Formal Opening Today of City Playgrounds—Season of Supervised Play in Full Swing

"Educators are coming to realize that the long summer vacation presents a serious problem. Those who look after the welfare of our children know that it is not good for boys and girls to remain idle for more than two months out of each year. It is this need that we are trying to fill by our work in the manual training classes and on the playgrounds."

Mr. Ralph Luce, supervisor of manual training and the mechanical arts at the Greenhalge playground, spoke these words this morning at the opening of exercise of his class which were held in the Greenhalge school. And that was the idea that seems uppermost in the minds of the playground teachers throughout the city as the season of supervised play got into full swing. They were all united in the thought that here is an opportunity to do lasting good to large numbers of children—an opportunity fully as great as that afforded to regular teachers in the winter season.

Thousands of children, ranging in age from 5 to 14 years, flocked eagerly to the playgrounds this morning to participate in the exercises which

British Military Reinforcements Said to be Going Out From England

MALTA, July 6 (By the Associated Press).—Virtually the entire British Mediterranean fleet is en route for or concentrated within easy reach of Constantinople, where the situation is viewed with some anxiety. It is said that British military reinforcements are going out from England.

Even the reserve ships here are destined for the east, and the vessels which recently sailed in that direction have carried large supplies of munitions.

ANNUAL PROPERTY SALE FOR UNPAID TAXES

The annual sale of property for unpaid taxes opened this morning in the office of the city treasurer and 11 parcels of real estate were disposed of. The property was sold for the non-payment of 1919 taxes. Owing to the absence of a large number of bidders and the fact that there still remain 20 parcels to be sold, the sale will be continued tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

There was a large tax sale on in Boston today and local treasury officials incline to the belief that this counter-attraction kept many bidders away from Lowell. However, it is expected that the entire list will be disposed of tomorrow. One of the parcels

DENIES GREECE HAS WAR-LIKE INTENTIONS

SMYRNA, July 6 (By the Associated Press).—Greece has no warlike intentions toward soviet Russia despite statements to the contrary which have appeared in the European press. This statement has been sent to George Chitchever, Bolshevik foreign minister, who recently asked Premier Gounaris to define the attitude of his government.

Japanese Kill 500 Koreans In Battle

SEOUL, Korea, July 5 (By the Associated Press).—Reports have reached Japanese military headquarters here that a battle has occurred on the Siberian border between Japanese and Koreans in which 500 Koreans were killed or wounded.

Several thousand malcontent Koreans are alleged to have joined the Siberian bolsh-eviki.

NIKOLAI LENINE

PARIS, July 6—Reports have reached here from usually reliable quarters to the effect that Leon Trotsky, Russian soviet minister of war and marine, has been imprisoned by Nikolai Lenine the soviet premier, following the congress of the third internationale. No confirmation of these reports from official or any other source, however, is available.

Early in the session of the congress which opened in Moscow a week ago, there were reports that Lenine and Trotsky had agreed to a compromise under which Trotsky would have a free hand in conducting the internationale's world movement.

MURPHY VISITS SALMON

"Sick Men" of the Municipal Council Have Chat at the Hospital

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy and Commissioner John F. Salmon, the two "sick men" of the municipal council, met yesterday afternoon for the first time in a couple of months. Commissioner Murphy, who made his first appearance at city hall yesterday in a long period, visited Mr. Salmon at St. John's hospital in the afternoon and the two members of the city government chatted for a long time about various matters. Commissioner Murphy was at city hall again today and Commissioner Salmon hopes to be there in the course of a few more weeks.

LONDON, July 6 (By the Associated Press).—General Jan Christian Smuts, South African premier, upon his return from Ireland today, conferred with Premier Lloyd George, Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and Earl Middleton, the southern unionist leader.

General Smuts reported the result of his talks with the Sinn Fein leaders on the Irish situation. The conference was surrounded with the greatest secrecy, but it is understood that it primarily concerned itself with conditions for the possible suspension of hostilities in Ireland.

Official circles express belief that a cessation of active operations is almost indispensable as an aid to progress in the peace deliberations.

The feeling generally was that today's conference would have a marked

Lowest Mortality in City's History Indicated by Figures for First Six Months of 1921

Lowell is going to have one of the lowest mortality records in its history this year, judging from statistics for the first six months of the year as compared with the first six months of the past few years.

Up to July 1 this year, there were only 788 deaths in Lowell while at a corresponding time last year 982 deaths had been reported. In 1919 on July 1 the total deaths for the year were 965 and in 1918 when the half-year mark had been reached 1005 deaths had been recorded.

Greater precaution on the part of the public as the result of education in propaganda on health matters together with the absence of any serious epidemic are given as reasons for the decrease in mortality this year.

Not only has the general death rate decreased but there have been fewer deaths of children here this year than in the years immediately preceding, according to records of the board of health. For instance, in the first six months of 1918, 224 children under one year had died, and in 1919 during the first six months 174 infants passed away. The figure for 1920 was 192 but this year a new record is established. Only 143 children under one have died since January 1.

Deaths of children under two show a similar decrease this year. Up to July 1 there had been only 172 deaths of children under this age, while a year ago 246 deaths were recorded in this column up to July 1. In 1919 there had been 208 and in 1918 281. Deaths under five for the first six months of the year were also lower this year than in any of the three preceding years.

ACCUSED MEN DODGED DRAFT

Both Sacco and Vanzetti Went to Mexico in 1917 to Escape Military Service

Excursion to Mexico of Group of Men Brought Out at Murder Trial

DEDEHAM, July 6.—An excursion to Mexico by a group of seven or eight men to avoid the draft and military service in 1917 was brought to light today in the cross examination of Bartolomeo Vanzetti, testifying in his own behalf at the trial of himself and Nicola Sacco for the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree a year ago. Dist. Atty. Frederick G. Katzmann developed that both Sacco and Vanzetti were members of the party.

Vanzetti, who had been living in Plymouth, said he went to Monterey, Mexico, in 1917, and spent four or five months there. Six or seven friends accompanied him, among them Sacco. The party entered Mexico through Laredo, Tex.

The district attorney referred to Vanzetti's testimony that he was arranging a meeting of fellow Italians at Brockton in the interest of Andrea Salzedo and Roberto Elia, detained as radicals by department of justice officials at New York, when he and Sacco were arrested on May 5, 1920.

The defendant acknowledged that he intended addressing returned soldiers "to advise men who had gone to war."

Train Attacked—Engineer Fatally Wounded—Wreck of Strike Disorders

FITZGERALD, Ga., July 6.—Three companies of the Georgia National Guard were due to arrive here early today to take hold of the situation arising from an attack by alleged strikers and strike sympathizers on an Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railway train last night during which Engineer W. T. Reid was mortally wounded. The attack, which followed a week of strike disorders here during which numerous shots have been fired at railway employees who have taken the places of strikers, occurred at Small's mill, two miles from here, and is said to have been made by strikers who have been on picket duty there for weeks.

Following the attack a cordon of deputies was immediately thrown around the A. B. & C. shops here, and although no further disorders occurred, county officials regarded the situation as serious and appealed to Governor Hardwick for state troops.

Taft Mounting Supreme Court Bench Finally Attains Life's Goal

By H. B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, July 6.—When William Howard Taft dons the silken robes of chief justice on the convening of the supreme court next October, he again will have picked up the judicial care, which was his life's ambition, but which he abandoned in 1899 at the importunity of President McKinley and Secretary of War Elihu Root. Taft, educated in the law, viewed as the pinnacle of his hopes a seat on the federal supreme bench. He had risen rapidly, following his graduation from Yale, and was presiding judge of the United States court for the southern Ohio district when President McKinley, following the report of the Schurman commission on the Philippines, wired him to call at the White House.

That visit was to change Taft's entire career; to lift him from the judicial pursuit he loved; throw him into the arena of national politics; make and unmake him as president, and finally return him, under another Ohio president, to the career from which he had been drafted.

McKinley told Taft that he wanted him to go to the Philippines as governor general and set up a civil government there. Root joined the president in his plan, and, although loath to abandon his work on the bench, Taft consented.

As he told a friend in later years, he "chose the road to Damascus" and wound up far afield. But the appointment by President Harding places him, finally, at the goal for which he started.

After a year and a half in the Philippines, Taft returned to be Secretary of War under Roosevelt. Roosevelt's control of his party organization put Taft across for the republican nomination and election as president in 1908.

Taft, the jurist, has been praised for his powers of reasoning and his unassailable logic. But in practical politics it appeared that he was devoid of political judgment.

Taft's weakness as president, his close friends will tell you, however, was not that he couldn't use the political moves that would keep him out of trouble, but that he wouldn't stoop to make them.

They cite the case of the treaty of reciprocity with Canada, which he sponsored vigorously against the advice of many party leaders. On the day he signed the bill he greeted a caller with the announcement:

"Well, we've now got a treaty of reciprocity with Canada."

"That's what you think of it?" the caller inquired.

"I think I've signed my political death warrant," Taft replied, "but it's worth it."

Again, in 1912, when the fight was hottest for delegates to the Chicago convention, a senator, through an intermediary, approached Taft on the subject of a pardon for a man convicted of murder, with the intimation that a pardon might mean the switching of a block of delegates.

"Tell him," Taft sent back word, "that I'm not trading murderers for delegates."

Poor politics? Certainly; but typical of the absolute integrity and incor-

HAD NO IDEA IT WOULD HELP HIM

Nadeau Had Been Suffering Five Years and Thought His Case Beyond Reach

"Tanlac has made me healthy, strong and happy, and I don't remember the day I ever felt any better than I do now," said Arthur J. Nadeau, of 14 Waverly st., Taunton, Mass., who holds a responsible position for the Whittendon mills.

He had been suffering for five years before I got Tanlac and had reached the point where I thought I was going to have to give up entirely, for I was almost a complete wreck. My stomach was in such awful condition I had to live on the lightest kind of things, such as milk and the like, for if I ate a single bit of heavy food it would almost drive me mad with pain. I would blot with gas until I was simply miserable, and had such knife-like pains around my heart, they were almost unbearable. My head ached until it seemed like my eyes would pop out, and I became so dizzy I would have to stop my work for a few minutes until my sight cleared up. My sleep was so restless it didn't seem to do me any good, and I had gotten in such bad shape I had almost given up the idea of being able to do anything to help me.

"One of our neighbors got my wife to buy Tanlac for me, and although I had very little faith in the medicine at the time, I have been thankful a thousand times since that she did so, for four bottles have rid me entirely of all my troubles. I eat like a farm hand now, never feel a sign of stomach trouble or have an ache or pain of any kind but just feel fine all the time. Why, I'm just like a new man out and out, and there's nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Rutherford, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

ruptibility of the man who now ascends the supreme bench.

Men who have been closest to Taft in a personal way swear by him as the cleanest-minded, most mentally wholesome individual they ever knew in public life.

His break with Roosevelt came most nearly developing an acid trace in his character, but that was not so much because of its effect on him personally as because he saw in Roosevelt's campaign of 1912 an attempt to wreck the republican party.

On the evening of election day, 1912, when word was carried to him that he had been defeated, he laughed.

"Well," he said, "I had my triumph at Chicago; because at Chicago we preserved the republican party."

His insistence on following his conscience regardless of political effect, it is said, inside republican circles, probably prevented his receiving the republican nomination for president last year.

Had he been willing to deal with republican senators opposed to the League of Nations, he could have had nomination on a platter, it is stated. But he would not. When he appeared on the same platform with President Wilson in New York, in support of the league, his name was stricken from the roster of presidential eligibles.

Taft's work as a member of the War Labor board, during the war, did much to allay opposition to his supreme bench appointment on the theory that he was ultra-conservative. His decisions on the board were, in the main, more satisfactory to labor than the employers.

In the eight years since he left the White House, Taft has been a professor of constitutional law at Yale, an editorial writer for a Philadelphia newspaper and joint chairman of the war labor board. He has lived simply, but happily.

His wife, who was in poor health during most of his term at the White House, is again enjoying fine health. Both his boys, Bob and Charles, are practicing law in Cincinnati and are happily married. Helen, only recently married, has been acting dean at Bryn Mawr.

With his family thus happily settled, the appointment that takes Taft back to the bench—the career of his choice—and in the highest judicial position anywhere, bring to him, naturally, the utmost satisfaction.

Taft's appointment came at the time he had completed a edition of the valuation of the Canadian Grand Trunk Lines, preparatory to their being taken over by the Canadian government. He plans, however, to spend the summer with Mrs. Taft at their summer home on Murray Bay, on the St. Lawrence river, coming to Washington early in the fall.

SUN WRITER INTERVIEWS TIGER

By MILTON BRONNER

PARIS, July 6.—Interview Georges Clemenceau.

Those are my orders!

Just imagine a tall, cold-looking sphinx suddenly turned into an old man of 80, with Chinese features and occasionally omitting a word or two as if begrudging every syllable.

That's Clemenceau!

There is no pomp about the Tiger of France. Almost anybody can walk in on him in his lair in the Passy district of Paris.

But almost anybody is just as apt to walk right out again!

His home is like that of a struggling lawyer. Furniture and rugs are old and time-worn, like their owner.

There are books everywhere, and casts of great Greek sculptures and pictures of still other sculptures. On the table there is a book the old man has been reading. It tells how to raise garden vegetables.

The Tiger puffs pleasure at seeing you.

I hoped to draw him out by telling him what I saw recently in Germany. He listened like a sleepy feline. Then, finally, he said:

"Very interesting!"

I ventured the opinion that if France found she was able to protect herself against the den-rested German, it was largely due to his work in drawing up certain sections of the Versailles treaty.

With his hands crossed on his stomach he spoke seven words:

"We all did our best at Versailles."

I asked how America could help France today.

"Request silence!"

I inquired as he was going back into French politics.

Even more eloquent silence.

More questions, from me and—

"Young man, I speak several languages and I know how to keep still in all of them."

Nearly One-Third of Entire Working Population of England Is Out of Employment

Do you know that three millions of people, or nearly one-third of the entire working population, is in the ranks of the jobless in England today? We think that times are hard here in America. In Massachusetts, in Lowell. But read what confronts the English laboring man. The most menacing feature of the entire situation, says Frank Knox in today's article, is the attitude of the man in the street. He is cynical, and if he is a war veteran he wonders if his sacrifices have been in vain. The Englishman of today is quite a separate being from the British government, Mr. Knox points out. He is quite as disgusted with the way things are being handled as the most rabid Anglophobe.

Another portion of today's article will be read with unusual interest locally, as a result of a recent announcement from the state aid headquarters at city hall. That funds are running low. Mr. Knox tells of the evils of the so-called "unemployment pay" in England. This is the equivalent of what is given out to American war veterans out of a job in Massachusetts.

(Fourth Article)
By FRANK KNOX

LONDON, June 3.—Contrasted with either the United States or France, England is today feeling most acutely the after-effects of war. Out of probably ten million workers, more than three million are unemployed. This is a very moderate estimate. Many put the figure even as high as four million. With one man out of three idle in America we would be on a parity as to conditions with England, and never since the war have we approached this figure. And a curious factor, originally prompted by humanitarian purpose, but now operating to the distinct disadvantage of all classes, is the unemployment pay.

This is sufficient to keep body and soul together and upon many, disheartened and left without ambition by the war, it has had the effect of making them indifferent as to how soon they find employment, thus removing the vital impulse so necessary to work to live. This is not meant to be a sweeping indictment of the soundness of some form of unemployment pay but the present situation in England, very emphatically, warns against such a policy, not properly safeguarded against willing unemployment.

In America we may find a parallel only in the manner in which we have treated some of our Indian tribes where payments under ancient treaties have sufficed to give the Indian enough to keep alive and thus utterly robbed him of motive to better his lot. These tribes, supported in utter squalor and extreme poverty by the dole of the government, constitute the same problem for us—and thus far we have found it insoluble—that England faces for a great body of her working people.

The hope of England, as of every country with democratic institutions, is its huge unorganized middle class. Under present intolerable conditions, this great majority is being forced into class consciousness of a sort which promises effective political reprisals if the government does not speedily find a remedy for some of the worst evils from which it suffers. One cannot go about the city talking with tradesmen and other middle class folk without gaining right speedily the impression that the great English public which, after all, is neither the titled nor wealthy upper class, not the trades unionists who are intensely organized, is going to make itself audible and effective in the crisis toward which affairs are obviously drifting.

The numerous strikes which have paralyzed business in every line, including the coal strike which seems to be steadily drifting toward an impasse, are explained by the man on the street (and your Englishman, like your Frenchman, is much better informed on political questions than the man of the same character in the United States) by the declaration that the employers have tried to get back to pre-war conditions too swiftly and principally at the expense of the wage earners. Efforts have been directed toward a summary reduction of wages by 50 per cent, as in the coal industry, without waiting for the costs of living to go down to the same extent. Living costs in England are still about double what they were before the war. It is regarded here as a tribute to the superior acumen of the American employer that he tried to keep reduction in wages and reduction in the cost of living as nearly as could be on a parity. I have found no one who did not agree that a cut of 20 to 25 per cent in English wages could have been put into effect without demoralizing business.

Tradesmen are very pessimistic about retail business. The smart shops which cater to the tourist trade are fairly busy but the backbone of retail business is, of course, the trade of the English people and the latter are practicing thrift to an extent which matches their best effort during the war. England, like the United States, had a consumers' strike, the fruit of continued high prices after the war, and then this voluntary withholding of trade has been followed by a compulsory economy due to the drying up of the sources of income. The result is that the appearance of the people one meets on the street is distinctly shabby and threadbare. And their clothes very accurately reflect the mental attitude, it too is threadbare. The Englishman is very despondent over the future. He is down on his face, and the men who fought the war are distinctly cynical. They openly question the worth-whileness of their sacrifice to save a country, as they put it, now under the control of a lot of self-seeking politicians, where privilege still haunts itself callously before the eyes of the men and women who paid with their blood for the preservation of institutions which were impossible to say. Probably all countries supposed to protect the commoner against the very exploitation from which he suffers.

There is the sharpest possible contrast between the condition of the popular mind in France and that manifested in England. France wasted the first year after the armistice but her people have gone to work with a will and look forward to better times in the immediate future. England wasted time right after the war but England has not gone back to work. Whether the blame rests on the working people as a whole, the portion of the workers who belong to unions and who have submitted to radical leadership, or upon the capitalist class, it is impossible to say. Probably all countries tributed more or less to a situation which at this time looks pretty dark and ominous. Really the only philosophy the optimistically inclined Britisher can summon just now is thus expressed: "We have jolly well muddled through every nasty time in the past, I suppose we will muddle through this one, some way, too."

Do Flying Fish Fly or Simply Soar?

By WALLACE CRAIG
Professor, University of Maine
If you should go on a long voyage in the warm southern seas, either the Atlantic or the Pacific, you would be almost sure to be entertained by the sight of fishes rising from the water and flying for some distance through the air.

Flying fish have a peculiar, powerful tail by means of which they dart, quick as a flash, to the surface of the water and out into the air. There is difference of opinion as to whether flying fish can fly in the strict sense of the word, or can only soar.

Professor Whittman, one of the greatest of American naturalists, states that he saw flying fishes flapping their fins like wings, and turning to right and left in their flight in a manner that could not be done if the fish were merely soaring.

But the most recent writer on the subject, Dr. Ahlborn of Hamburg, defends the view that the flying fish can only soar.

He states that the fish, by means of its powerful tail, can swim with terrific speed, and dart from the water like an arrow.

Its momentum is often sufficient to carry it for the whole length of its flight. If it needs more momentum, it can get it only by touching the water again.

While in the air it is supported by great fins which spread out fanwise on either side of the body. These fins act merely like the planes of an airplane. They cannot be flapped like the wings of a bird, for the muscles controlling them are too small to do such work.

The fish can sustain its flight for only a fraction of a minute, but in this short time it can soar to a distance of several hundred feet.

The average American consumes four times as much meat as the world's average man.

WOMAN ANTI-RED LEADER KILLED

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
RIGA, July 5.—Marie Nikoforva, the woman anti-Bolshevik leader, who for months harassed the reds at the head of a regiment of counter-revolutionary troops, has at last been seized and executed, according to word received here.

Ms. Nikoforva was the daughter of a czarist officer who was slain by the communists. She was an excellent horsewoman and carried the title of colonel.

The Bolsheviks were able to capture her only by sending four regiments against her. Three firing squads refused to kill her, firing their rifles in the air.

Then the red leaders commanded a machine gun to be turned on her and she was killed.

SOUTH COMMON NETS CITY $607

License fees from the amusement and refreshments stands established on the South common during the American Legion carnival noted the city $607, according to figures made public by the license commission at its meeting last evening. This is considerably in excess of the proceeds usually received from the Fourth of July concessions. The large number of concessionaires kept the members of the commission and their clerks busy Saturday afternoon and Monday when they established a temporary office on the common and saw to it that every enterprise was properly licensed.

The commission last evening granted the following minor permits:
Excess, Joseph C. Seibner, 233 Middlesex street, and Frank Schumacher, 32 West Adams street; common victualer, Kopyrigoles & Co., 230 Middlesex street, and Mrs. Nora M. Bobonan, 655 Lawrence street; billiards and pool.

Garman Gulletto, 56 Austin street, and James Petros, 62 Adams street; hawker and peddler, Edmund St. Peter, 159 Fletcher street, and Evangelos Papaconstantinou, Suffolk street; lodging house, Mrs. Lauraro Lebrun, 201 Appleton st., Arthur N. Beauchamp, 455 Merrimack st.; to sell ice cream on Sunday, Chas. W. Forgays, 452 Gorton street, Mrs. Noema Brault, 39 Ward street, Messrs. But Chick was so surprised that he nearly forgot to breathe when he found it was Nancy, who had wished herself up there with the help of her Magic Green Shoes.

"How do you do?" she said, bobbing a curtsy. "May I come in?"

"Certainly," answered Chick, remembering his manners, even if he didn't remember his breath. "Why, I—I think that I've seen you before."

"Yes," Nancy told him. "Nick and I were at your house with Tingaling, the fairyman landlord, to collect your rent on the thirty-second day of the month! Here's Nick now."

"Tingaling, indeed! He was the very person who told me to make a hole in my wall to catch the maple syrup sap. And I did, but someone has stolen it. Nice state of things, I call it!"

"That's what we are here about now," declared Nick. "Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weather man, sent us to see if the weather was warm enough to make the sap come up in the maple trees."

"Yes," said Chick disgustedly. "It came up in the maple trees only to go down the throats of folks who have no right to it. You didn't happen to

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Installation of Officers by M. T. L.—Address by President Flaherty

Arthur M. Flaherty was installed as president of the Mathew Temperance Institute at the regular meeting of the organization in its rooms in Central street last evening. President Flaherty and the other officers who were installed will serve until Jan. 1, 1922.

Following his installation, President Flaherty spoke at length on the purposes and plans of the institute for the coming half-year and asked for the co-operation of all the members in making his term a success.

Other officers installed were as follows: Vice-president, Frank Boyle;

ARTHUR M. FLAHERTY, President.

financial secretary, Thomas M. Carley; treasurer, James M. McGovern; recording secretary, Frank Carroll; marshal, P. Frank Reilly; spiritual director, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D.; board of trustees, William Sheehy, John Conlon and Francis Plunkett; board of examiners, John Brady, Edward Carroll and Walter M. Quinn; literary committee, John Tighe, Joseph Geary and Edward Mealy.

Several applications for membership were received and referred to the board of examiners. The quarterly report of the financial secretary and the treasurer showed that the institution was in a most prosperous condition.

A communication from the Catholic Total Abstinence union invited the institute to send a delegate to the national convention of the organization to be held in Boston on August 2, 3 and 4.

Following the installation of officers, refreshments were served and a general good time enjoyed.

BRITAIN DEFENDS OIL RESTRICTIONS

LONDON, July 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A "white paper" on the oil situation was given out yesterday. It is in the form of a note which Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary sent to Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, under date of April 21, which enclosed for the ambassador's information, in reply to his inquiries, a memorandum compiled by the British petroleum department giving statistics on the oil resources of every part of the British empire and showing an extremely small oil production and the absence of any general policy for the exclusion of foreigners from the oil producing areas.

The memorandum says that in vast areas where there are no restrictions no foreign country has attempted to explore for oil, except in British North Borneo, while in Canada and Trinidad, where restrictions are enforced, foreign capital has been working for many years.

"It can therefore, hardly be contended that the restrictions imposed any serious disability on foreign enterprise," the memorandum argues as regards the closed door policy. "No real parallel can fairly be drawn between the British empire, with its small and scattered production, and a country like the United States, producing two-thirds of the world's output within her home territory."

A STOMACH TONIC

There is a form of indigestion called "atonic" dyspepsia. Atonic means "lack of tone." It is probably the most common form of indigestion but not much is heard about it because people are inclined to group all forms of dyspepsia as "stomach trouble."

Lack of tone in the digestive organs means that the stomach is no longer able to do its work as nature intended. The nerves that control it are weak, the glands that supply the digestive fluids are not working properly. Gas on the stomach, sour risings in the throat and constipation result. The cause of the trouble is thin blood. Stomach, nerves and glands are all dependent on the blood and when it gets thin and watery they are at once weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and the first response from the stomach is a better appetite, freedom from distress after eating and an increase in ambition and energy generally. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a stomach tonic and see how your general health improves.

BREAK IN G.O.P. RANKS

Cong. Frear Charges Colleague With Breaking Pledges on Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A break in the ranks of republican members of the house ways and means committee which drafted the tariff bill came yesterday with the making public by Representative Frear of Wisconsin of a minority statement charging his colleagues with disregard for party pledges and assailing them for proposing "fundamentally indefensible" provisions and rates of duty. The statement will be filed along with the majority report of the committee, which it is expected will be submitted to the house today.

Mr. Frear's attack, while predicated on the "arrogance" of the dye control provision, embraces many other features of the bill. The Wisconsin member declared the rates of duty to be excessive in scores of instances and added that they would lead to excise taxes by "trusts and monopolies," thus increasing the burden the people must carry.

Mr. Frear referred to the argument that protection for the dye manufacturers was necessary for national defense and asked why it was necessary to assume that the nation would be thrown into a great war and at the same time "to grant practically exclusive rights of dye manufacture to a recognized monopoly."

"Protection, the keystone of republican doctrine, is thrown to the wind in the chemical dye schedule," Mr. Frear said.

The question which must be decided by republicans in congress, he added, was "Can the bill, as drawn, be defended?" In his opinion, he contended, would disclose "how far it exceeds strictly protective lines in a revenue way and where it becomes prohibitive. Objection was voiced by Mr. Frear to provisions which would pass to the tariff commission "legislative functions" in the determination of what dye chemicals may or may not enter customs. The provisions, he declared, meant that the commission would be authorized to determine "the character of a necessity to modern industrial life; to determine quantity and quality of goods that may be imported and the price that shall be paid by the consumer."

"If this precedent is adopted," he continued, "then every tariff schedule may be made prohibitive in fact without the interposition of congress. A subcommittee commission, not responsive or responsible to congress or to the people, may thus prevent all imports of commerce between nations and may also be arbiter of fortunes of those here and abroad."

No inkling came from the other republican committeemen last night as to what propositions they would put forward the second of the party conference on the measure tonight. It was regarded as a virtual certainty that amendments would be proposed by the committee, would be limited to a few items and that a special rule would be drawn to prevent any direct moves to upset the committee work.

ELIOT NORTON, LAWYER AND AUTHOR, INDICTED

NEW YORK, July 6.—Indictments charging Eliot Norton, lawyer and author, with conspiracy to defraud, were returned by the grand jury of the Southern District of New York today. Norton, 40, of Philadelphia, is charged with conspiring with Louis B. Jennings and Harry Brodsky to defraud the Standard Film Industries, Inc., of New York, of $350,000. The indictment charges that the three men conspired to defraud the company by selling to it stock of the company at a price of $350,000, when the stock was actually worth only $200,000. The indictment also charges that the three men conspired to defraud the company by selling to it stock of the company at a price of $350,000, when the stock was actually worth only $200,000.

Mr. Norton, son of the late Charles Eliot Norton, professor of English at Harvard university, was named in the indictment as secretary and attorney of the company. Mr. Drexel was designated as vice president; Jennings, as president; and Brodsky as general manager.

The indictments grew out of an investigation into the companies connected with the Standard Film Industries, Inc.

ducted by the New York state industrial commission following receipt, police said, of numerous complaints from people of small means who said they had been induced to invest in the corporation on promise of large returns but had received no dividends. According to District Attorney Swann more than $500,000 worth of stock was sold to negro residents of the Harlem section.

The company, incorporated in Virginia, is alleged to have reported the sale of only 200 shares of stock at $3 each to the Virginia authorities, whereas the indictment charges stock of $350,000 par value was actually sold at $3 to $5.50 a share, bringing in approximately $200,000. Salesmen were paid large commissions, ranging as high as 10 per cent, according to the district attorney, who said no dividends were paid.

The specific charge in the indictment is violation of a section of the Penal Code relating to issuance of stock in excess of the amount declared. The maximum penalty provided by the law is seven years' imprisonment, $3000 fine, or both.

Senator Arthur Capper has loaned out two hundred thousand dollars, without security, to boys to purchase pure-blood pigs. The boys become interested in their stock raising and remain on the farm. The senator is applying the same idea to chicken clubs with girl members and has already loaned fifty thousand to Kansas girls for purchase and development of pure bred flocks.

"Love Boat" to Carry Couple Around The World on Second Honeymoon Trip

By Newspaper Enterprise

CLEVELAND, July 6—The motor cruiser Speejaacks is in drydock here being fitted for a 75,000-mile round-the-world cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Young Gowen will use the "love boat" for their second honeymoon trip, which they figure will last upward of a year.

Before the return, the Speejaacks will have poked its nose into all the principal harbors of the world, will have explored the South Sea Islands and traveled up the rivers into interior China.

There'll be a scientific party aboard, too. Geological and other surveys will be made. A movie operator will keep a record of the trip on celluloid. Gowen is vice president of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, is a keen yachtsman and hails from Cleveland.

"Ever since I was a boy," says Gowen, who laid out something like $250,000 for his "liner," "I've wanted to see what the other side of the old world looked like. But I said that when I went, I was going in my own boat. Now the day's at hand and I feel like a kid."

"We'll take in everything romanced in history and fairy tale. Captain Kidd's old playgrounds and the home of the storied race of dying Marquises are both on our itinerary."

"Yes, and we'll have heaps of fun," adds Mrs. Gowen, who is a veteran yachtsman herself and can handle a wheel or a sail with the best of them.

"We've dreamed about this trip for a long time, and now it's coming true. It'll be a real romantic honeymoon."

From windlass to winch, the Speejaacks was built after Gowen's own long thought out plans.

Its length overall is 35 feet, with a beam of 17 feet and a draft of six feet. It registers 100 gross tons. Speed is 13 knots.

Every contrivance on board that could be electrically driven, is so equipped so that only a crew of six need be carried.

It is said that much butter and other perishable goods were taken by motorists passing in the state highway before railroad officers arrived.

WILL TAKE REINS OF GOVERNMENT MONDAY

Henry J. Bowers, who was yesterday elected superintendent of streets by the municipal council, will take up his new duties next Monday morning, he said today. There are a number of matters in the city engineer's office where he has been employed for the past quarter of a century, which must be cleaned up before he assumes his new position.

The appointment of an assistant engineer to succeed Mr. Bowers lies in the hands of Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department, who must make his choice from a civil service list of eligibles. He has not yet taken any action on the matter.

OFFICER CONWAY IS ON THE JOB

Officer Owen Conway, who recently made one night's work of rounding up a naval deserter sought for a year, a man wanted for a similar period on non-support charges, and two youths afterwards found guilty of taking an automobile, has again displayed some remarkable sleuthing work and is receiving the congratulations of his companions. Last night he arrested John H. Conley, a soldier wanted at Camp Devens as a straggler. Conway spotted his man in the crush at the South common. Just prior to this arrest, he took into custody John H. Whalen, missing from the Hingham naval training station.

Warship Aground in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, July 6—The battleship Utah was aground for half an hour in the harbor here today. Six tugs eventually pulled her clear of the flats into which she had nosed while returning to the navy yard. The battleship was not damaged.

The Utah had sailed yesterday for European ports. She spent the day in the bay adjusting compasses but gun shutters were not working properly and the battleship turned back to port.

Aboard the Utah were the members of the United States Rifle and Pistol team entered in the international tournament at Lyons, France, Aug. 6 to 15. As the Utah will be in port a week their training period at Coblenz will be curtailed, possibly abandoned.

OBSERVED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

A high mass of thanksgiving at St. Jean Baptiste church, followed by a family dinner and reception at the home of the couple, marked the observance of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Leblanc of 836 Moody street yesterday. In attendance at the festivities were numerous guests from town and all extended their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

The mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. Aurelian Marcell, O.M.I., who also extended the best wishes of the parish to the venerable couple. During the service a special musical program was given by the choir under the direction of Joseph Paradis, who also presided at the organ.

At the close of the mass all repaired to the home of the couple, where dinner was served to members of the family and immediate relatives. Later the festivities were numerous guests from town and all extended their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

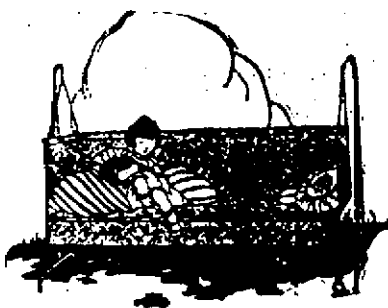

The mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. Aurelian Marcell, O.M.I., who also extended the best wishes of the parish to the venerable couple. During the service a special musical program was given by the choir under the direction of Joseph Paradis, who also presided at the organ.

given with Miss Emelda Labrecque presiding at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Leblanc, the latter formerly Miss Celina Fregeau, were born in Canada and were married 50 years ago yesterday at Danielsonville, Conn. They came to this city over 35 years ago and have lived here since. Mr. Leblanc is an assistant foreman at the Lawrence Mfg. Co., which position he has held for the past 20 years. The couple have had four children, all of whom are living. Mrs. George Zappa, Mrs. Ludger Coullombe and Mrs. Henri St. Cyr, all of this city and Pierre Leblanc, Jr., of Newark, N. J. They also have several grandchildren. Attending the festivities from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Fregeau and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bolevenue, all of Woonsocket, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cote of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Leblanc, Jr., of Newark, N. J.

NOT AGAINST LABOR

We notice that in certain quarters there is an assiduous effort to make it appear that the movement to have certain street work done by contract, is directed against the city laborer. Others say with equal emphasis that it is a personal drive against Commissioner Murphy.

So far as we can discern, it is neither the one nor the other, but simply a straight, direct and above board method of securing better streets at a reasonable expense.

The present method having completely broken down, something different is necessary even as an experiment. The citizens of Lowell are to be asked to give the contract system a fair trial in street work. That is all that was asked in the first place when the chamber of commerce urged the city council to have one street paved by contract in order to determine whether the latter method had any advantage over that of the street department. The council's refusal, and as a result the initiative provision of the charter was invoked with the result that the matter must be submitted to the people at a special election within the next month. The whole matter would have been settled if the council had agreed to have one street paved by contract. But having failed to comply, all the disagreeable consequences of an initiative campaign, and a special election in the vacation season are precipitated.

Now the cry is raised that the movement is opposed to labor. That is absurdly untrue. It is altogether a business proposition to secure street improvements by strictly business methods. Extravagance at city hall, combined with the civil service exclusion, has operated very seriously against the large body of laborers who are not employed in the street department. It has raised the tax rate, and a high tax rate means high rents, which the laborers outside city hall and the operators who work in the factories, or who do not work at all, have to pay. Is that fair, is it honest or is it right?

There are but a few hundred laborers, if so many, in the street department; but there are over 20,000 who have to help pay for the waste resulting from mismanagement of our street work.

If it is a question of labor, then the benefit of better streets at reduced costs will come as a relief to fifty laborers for every one who would be favored by retaining the present method. When any kind of street work costs about twice as much as it should under proper supervision and direction, then it is time to try a different method. But in the new method there is a provision that Lowell labor will be employed. That will give the laborers in and out of the department a chance to obtain work without civil service interference.

It is not helping labor to say that any movement for greater efficiency in the street department or any other department is a drive against labor. Labor never did and never should try to block the onward path of efficiency. The man or men who do so, are not the friends of labor, but merely politicians trying to ride on the shoulders of honest labor.

GEN. SMUTS' MISSION

It is to be hoped that Gen. Smuts will accomplish his aim in bringing about an agreement among the elements that have for centuries stood against any just and proper settlement of the Irish question. It is amazing that British statesmen have allowed this question to remain in the forefront of the political horoscope for over a century.

Since the act of Union was passed in 1800, there has been trouble in Ireland because the people insisted upon some form of self government. In the last century they might have been satisfied with a restricted measure of home rule, but that was denied them with the result that the question has remained a live issue and when peaceful methods failed, the people resorted to physical force and hence there were rebellions in 1803, 1818 and 1867. After the Fenian movement was stamped out, there was a lull for some years while the country was getting ready for the great Land League movement which ultimately banished the landlords from Ireland and cleared the way for home rule. After securing many substantial reforms dealing with the land question, education and agriculture, the Irish parliamentary party secured the enactment of a general home rule bill in 1914. Had that measure been put in force, there would probably have been an Easter rebellion in 1914 and none of the trouble that has since followed as a result of withdrawing the measure and offering in its place a partition line, dividing Ireland on sectional lines in a way that would operate to maintain disunion indefinitely and ultimately to stamp out the spirit of Irish nationality.

The country has suffered the loss of over half the population it possessed in 1817, having then over 8,000,000 people, whereas it has now little over 4,000,000. The result of the continued conflict and of scores of centuries ago forced millions of the people into exile with the result that the Irish in Ireland today would hardly form a fifth of those scattered among the other nations of the earth. It is astounding that England has allowed her business interests to be harassed with this Irish question for the last century although it might have been settled in three months in a manner that would be beneficial alike to both nations. As President de Valera has stated, it would be much better for England in case of war to have a friendly Ireland at her door instead of an Ireland chafing for an opportunity to achieve her freedom and possibly take to the sword the wrongs of centuries.

If South Africa, Canada, Australia and New Zealand colonies, if so strange that British statesmen have not tried this method of settling the Irish question. We surmise that Gen. Smuts wishes to see dominion home rule put into operation in Ireland and that the unionists are willing to compromise. We have no doubt that the republican leaders will meet them half way in order to secure a united and undivided Ireland.

We do not believe that the Irish people are irreconcilable as they never wanted anything from England except simple justice and that they are determined to have whether England likes it or not.

REPUBLICAN BICKERINGS

So great are the bickerings among republican leaders that there is one thing needed to reunite them, and that is a blast from ex-President Wilson.

On many of the leading problems before congress, the party is hopelessly divided, but if Woodrow Wilson came out with a blast for democracy, the factions would dissolve at once and unite on the policy of opposition to Wilson.

The ex-president, realizing how much his help is needed, refuses to come to the relief of the Harding administration, preferring to follow the even tenor of his way in private life, leaving to the leaders chosen by the people, the solution of the difficulties entrusted to their care. On the tariff there are opposing camps in the party, some seeking a dangerously high protection, and others going to the opposite extreme; while various groups differ widely on the specific duty that should be placed on this or that commodity or how this or that interest shall fare in the final schedule.

Then there are contentions over the distribution of the spoils in which the senators have in many cases been disregarded by the president in favor of the counsels of the attorney-general, a close friend of the executive.

It is such matters as these that have given origin to what is known as the "Sore" or "Club," an aggregation of senators who have grievances against the president or the administration in general. Altogether, therefore, the administration seems to be threatened with internal disruption that will retard the solution of the great problems on the proper disposal of which the recovery of business very largely depends. It is a serious situation to contemplate at the present juncture.

It is of some interest to know what the democrats are doing in this emergency. To their credit be it said, they are helping as best they may in promoting constructive rather than destructive policies. On July 4, Chairman White of the democratic national committee issued a proclamation to democrats, pointing out the failure of the present administration, the lack of practical results in promoting a revival of business, or in checking the ruinous reduction in our foreign trade, which has almost reached the vanishing point. The democrats, therefore, are not in any way responsible for the failure of the administration thus far to accomplish anything of real benefit to the country.

THE ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY

There is much interest in the discussion of the renewal of the alliance between England and Japan. This treaty, it appears, was negotiated in 1902 and resulted from the action of Russia, France and Germany in depriving Japan of the fruits of her victory over China in the war of 1894-5. It bound the contracting powers to maintain the state of peace then existing in the Far East. It provided that if either power became involved in war, the other should remain neutral unless some other power attacked its ally, in which case the allied powers should unite their forces against the opposing enemies.

It was under this agreement that Great Britain remained neutral in the war between Japan and Russia in 1904-5. In that year the treaty was extended so as to apply to India and the neutrality provision was eliminated so that the treaty bound both powers to act together in case either became involved in war. On July 13, 1911, the alliance was renewed for a term of ten years so that within a few weeks it will probably be renewed in a modified form. Some British statesmen are in favor of submitting the new draft of the treaty to the United States government for approval, but this is not likely to be done except for a quid pro quo. The more recent modification made upon the treaty provided that should either of the contracting parties conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power it is agreed that nothing in the treaty should be allowed to nullify the peaceful aims of the arbitration agreement with a third power.

Following the import of this amendment to the treaty, it is highly probable that England will seek to secure a general arbitration treaty with the United States and thus place this nation outside the provisions of the offensive and defensive alliance between England and Japan.

The colonial premier are much interested in this Anglo-Japanese treaty and at least two of them are anxious to meet the desires of the United States, even at the risk of offending Japan whose friendship in the east is sought by England as a safeguard in the case of an outbreak in India.

Prof. J. Bushnell Hart advises schools to pay less attention to Latin and Greek and more to the industrial problems that will later engage the attention of the students. When college men thus begin to disavow the classics, we are forced to the conclusion that the colleges rather than the elementary schools need inspiring direction. Some of them are losing all respect for the higher ideals of education.

Certainly it seems as if the 320,000,000 which the Rumanian government has appropriated to pay the cost of the coronation of Queen Marie in September ought to be enough to get her crown on straight.—Boston Globe.

And surely enough to cause the people to dispense with the luxury of quinquina in the future.

Nobody has any grudge against the carnival fakers on account of excess profits. Many of them, it is understood, "went broke."

Henry J. Powers, the new superintendent of streets, has a big job ahead. If he hopes to put the department upon an efficient basis and repair our dilapidated streets.

Welcome back to duty, Commissioner Murphy. We hope Commissioner Fallon will soon be able to join his colleagues of the council.

SEEN AND HEARD

The vacation daze comes when you find you're broke.

The cabinet will have no vacation. Capitol punishment.

The Germans plan to withdraw from Silesia—everything.

Among other taxes is that the fisherman puts on your credulity.

The college graduate is finding his motto worth more than his medal.

Little Tall Tale

They were discussing the merits of their respective dogs. "Yus, 'Emery,'" said one, "your dog ain't so bad, but he's got rather short legs." "Short legs?" They reach the ground, don't they?" snapped the irritated owner.

The Reason Why

Sandy McTavish—Why, when I was a young man it was nothing for a youngster to get a job in London in some hotel, and it wasn't long before he owned the whole place." Angus—Aye. No doubt, but since then they've invented cash registers.

An Important Step

The American Library association has taken an important step in the reconstruction of war-torn France. It has established libraries in those zones where books were destroyed by the invader. In discussions of the future of France, books are not ranked with coal and reparations. But it is through books that the children are being taught to build a new, better, stronger France.

Hurrah For Amelia

Miss Alice Paul of the Women's national party said in a lecture on feminism: "Nothing angers a woman more than an unjust accusation. We did you rouse the sleeping tiger in the economical housewife's breast? Then accuse her of extravagance. An economical housewife told her husband the other morning that she'd have to ask him for a dollar or more a week on account of the high cost of living. 'I'll try and give you a half-dollar,' he grumbled, 'but you'll have to do. You're pretty extravagant, Amelia. No extravagance?' And Amelia laughed bitterly. 'Well, James, I don't see how you can call a woman extravagant who has saved her wedding dress for over 30 years on the chance that she may yet make a second marriage!'"

Fear and Worry

Fear and worry are two of the greatest curses of the human race. If they could be eliminated, not only all of the difficulties under which their victims labor, whether real or imaginary, would disappear. The increase in the sum total of happiness that would follow is beyond computation. Dr. Barton in a recent article, says that "it is not hard work that kills men." He adds that he does not remember ever having known a man who worked himself to death, but has known many who worried themselves to death. The president of a great eastern university says that in 40 years but one of the tens of thousands of students has died from overwork. If there ever was a time that the world needed hard work and clear thinking, it is now. Neither is possible on the part of the individual who is the slave of fear and worry.

A Possibility

If every man and wife should pair (They're disagree, most every-where!) Then all the votes that should commingle Would be those cast by folk still single. This as you see, would do away. With lots of help on 'lection day. Excuse us! Let us get this right: We should have said—"Farm life!"

MAN ABOUT TOWN

According to Prof. F. N. McCollum of Johns-Hopkins University, the average American should eat about half as much meat as he does if he would live to a ripe old age and keep his pep. More greens and milk are the substitutes recommended. The professor speaks as a health expert, and it is his advice, which, therefore, isn't a bit of doubt that the doctors and underwriters would have a lot less to do. The dinner table is a far deadlier place than the battlefield because the vast majority of people cannot resist the temptation to eat too much of what appeals to their taste. This is particularly true during hot weather, when, if one is as interested as should be in keeping his body and mind in top condition, he should eat sparingly of the heavy concentrated foods. And above all, during hot weather, forget the alcohol and drink plenty of cool, not iced, water. Drink it with your meals, slowly, and between your meals. Start your day with a glassful and finish your day with the same way. The following of these simple rules will pay big health dividends and greatly improve your disposition.

Did you lose any money—or prestige—on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight? There was more or less betting on the result here in Lowell, I understand, although Dempsey backers were usually required to give pretty good odds. But all the wagers didn't take the form of money. Judging from a scene witnessed by people who were standing in Merrimack square early Sunday afternoon. Shortly after eleven when the day's heat and humidity were at their height, two came down Merrimack square, a whole crowd propelled by a perspiring youth and seated in it was another young man. Placards on their backs indicated the fact that both had believed Carpentier would win. They were followed by an amused crowd and many people standing along the sidewalk smiled at the strange procession passed. The young man paraded around the traffic post opposite Bridge street and finally came to a halt just before the Hillbrook building. It was a hot day on which to pay off a bet, but these two lads were game.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Any Housewife's Lament

I DON'T mind the cooking, I don't mind the cleaning
Of rooms that are covered with dust;
Toward mending and sewing I haven't much leaning,
But do them, as housekeepers must;
To do the week's wash isn't one of my wishes,
And yet I can hear it, I think;
But, oh, how I loathe and detest doing dishes—
The terrible dishes—
Unbearable dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

THE making of beds isn't highly exciting,
But still, I don't mind it a lot;
And scrubbing the floor isn't very inviting,
Yet, somehow, it troubles me not;
But I feel I'm poorest of all the poor fishes,
My temper it puts on the blink,
To bend to the duty of washing the dishes—
The wearisome dishes—
The drearish dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

I'VE never found housework exactly enthralling,
But mostly it isn't so bad;
It's only the dishes that seem so appalling,
And make me so constantly mad.
I hate every dish, and the dish rag that swishes!
I hate pots and pans as they clink!
I hate 'em, I hate 'em—those darn dirty dishes—
Those spitefullest dishes—
Those frightfullest dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

To "Clean Up" Delinquent Sales Taxes

WASHINGTON, July 6—With every city of importance in the United States included in the campaign plan, a force of 250 specially trained revenue officers today began a nation-wide "clean up" of delinquent sales taxes. The special force will be divided into flying squadrons which will supplement the activities of the 2000 regular deputy collectors.

The cities marked for the first raids, it was announced today, include Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Atlanta, New Orleans, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco. Special attention is to be given to verification of returns of the manufacturers' excise, the tax on soft drinks and the transportation, jewelry, admission and insurance levies.

ORGANIZED MINISTERS OF WEDDING ANNIVERSARY FIRES AND FIRE ALARMS

HER OWN SEX

That the women of the clergy have an organization and are aiding each other in development along professional lines is largely due to the efforts of a little woman from Wichita, Kas. A slender little person, with a rather mild voice and a winsome smile, is the Rev. Mary Sibbitt.

For years she has been known as the Lady Orator from Kansas, but it was not until two years ago at St. Louis, Mo., that the Rev. Sibbitt gathered enough women of her profession and resolved to form the International Woman Preacher's association. The

THE REV. MARY SIBBITT

Rev. Sibbitt was assisted at that time by Miss Madeline Southard, the woman who persuaded Methodism to license its women ministers.

Mrs. Sibbitt's career as a missionary states from which she was 15 years old and went as a missionary teacher among the blanket Indians.

Mrs. Sibbitt has been an ordained friend minister for twenty years. Asked, one evening, after one of her lectures, how long she had been talking, she acknowledged that she began when she was about three months old and had never stopped!

But the little minister talks with a purpose and a result!

REGULATING HOURS FOR JEWELRY AUCTIONS

The regulation of hours for jewelry auctions, sought here by the Lowell Retail Jewellers' association, will be probably an innovation to the entire state if granted by the license commission, which is now investigating the proposition. At the regular meeting of the body, held June 27, the jewellers presented their petition, and argued the case for the restriction of the trade, does not prevent in any Massachusetts city. One objection which may have some bearing on the ultimate decision of the members of the board, is that by limiting the hours of jewelry auctions, it would prove necessary to restrict auctioneering of all descriptions.

The petition submitted to the commission reads as follows: "To the Honorable Board of License Commissioners, Lowell, Mass.: The undersigned members of the Retail Jewellers' association of Lowell petition your honorable body under Chapter 127, Section 5, of the laws of Massachusetts, that the hours under which auctioneers shall be permitted to sell goods in Lowell be limited to the retail business hours of the city, as follows: Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Thursdays, 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon, and Saturdays 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Signing the document are the following: Harry P. Runey, G. A. Antonas, Ford Ring Manufacturing company, (D. W. Harlow, proprietor), David Perreault & Company, Joseph F. Montminy, Henry Lavallee, Wood-Abbott company, Frank Reid, Abraham Gustaf, J. R. Collett, Edward W. Freeman, H. C. Haynes, Prince-Cottrell company, Morris Schankman and Willis J. Peilner.

BIG TRUCK WAS IN CLOSE QUARTERS

Striking a paving stone while driving past the excavations on Central street, in progress, this forenoon, a huge Mack truck belonging to John Brady, truckman, crashed into a pile of stones. The machine, laden with gravel, attempted to pass through the narrow lane left by the workmen, and a stray stone which had fallen into the center of this space came in contact with the left front wheel, causing the truck to swerve. The stones were scattered in all directions and several of them were crushed into powder as the operator of the machine maneuvered out of his predicament.

STRUCK A PUPPY

Mrs. John Burke reported at police headquarters today that she had struck a puppy while operating her automobile. The animal is the property of a neighbor.

THE SALE OF THE DESCRIBED PARCELS OF REAL ESTATE AS ADVERTISED BY THE CITY OF LOWELL TO BE SOLD JULY 11, 1921, AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M., 1921, WAS HELD AS ABOVE PRESCRIBED.

Several parcels being unsold, I make this public declaration that the sale was adjourned until 10 o'clock a. m., July 11, 1921.

Former Lowell Couple to Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary in Haverhill

Preparations are under way for the observance of the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Valerie Bouchard, former residents of this city, who are now making their home in Haverhill, the event to take place July 23. Guests will be present from this city, Lawrence, Haverhill, and other places. A mass of thanksgiving will be celebrated at the French Catholic church in Haverhill and at noon a family dinner will be served at the home of a son of the couple, Louis Bouchard, and in the evening a reception will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard, the latter formerly Miss Arthemise Tremblay, are 84 and 81 years of age respectively, and both are in good health. They were both born at L'Isle-Au-Coudre, Que., where they were married July 23, 1861. They came to this city some 22 years ago and made their home in this city until about two years ago when they moved to Haverhill to take up their residence with their son, Louis. Seventeen children were born to them, 11 of whom are living, among them being the following who are living in this city: Adolphe Bouchard, Mrs. Arsene Joyal and Joseph Bouchard.

TARRED AND FEATHERED

Victim Tells of Assault in Ayer Court—Three Men Sentenced to Jail

AYER, July 6.—Percy England of Pepperell, victim of a tar and feather assault, told of it in the district court yesterday, and as a result Grover C. Robbins of Lawrence, his brother, and Robert R. Meredith of Pepperell were sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction and fined $100 each. All appealed.

To support his charges England bared his back, showing welts where he had been struck with a whip and sears where the hot tar burned. His head still held traces of the tar and feather applications and one eye was blacked.

Attacked at Night

England, a chauffeur, said he was returning Monday night to his boarding place at East Pepperell with Mrs. Lorella Lavender, daughter of his landlady, when he was attacked by two masked men. Mrs. Lavender substantiated his testimony, saying one of the men took a flashlight from her, after which she obtained a lantern and unmasked the man, who then took the lantern away.

The assailants overpowered England, trussed him and put him into an automobile. They fired a shot from a revolver with a threat to kill him if he sought to escape. England said they took him to a nearby pasture, the property of Meredith. It was testified, where they were joined by the third man, who brought a pair of hot tar, feathers and a whip.

England's clothes were torn from his body down to the waist, he said; he was beaten by hand and with the whip, and then the hot tar was applied to his back and head. With it the feathers were rubbed in. He testified that his assailants ordered him to leave town, threatening that unless he did so the treatment would be repeated. They made a similar threat with an admonition to tell of the assault.

The cause of the assault did not develop in court.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Man Charged With Assault and Battery on Girl Is Fined $25

Frank Paul was arraigned in police court today charged with assault and battery on a girl and was ordered to pay a fine of $25. The complainant testified that while she was walking on the South common last evening Paul, who was behind her with his wife, seized her. She slapped his face, she added, and later he was followed and arrested at his home. The girl's brother declared that he sought escape when the officer called to take him into custody. A companion of the complainant testified to witness the act attracting to the defendant. After seizing her, said the girl, Paul was amused, and laughed at her when she turned around. She did not state whether he continued to laugh after she had soaked him.

The defendant denied that he touched the girl, and also denied that she struck him in retaliation. His wife testified similarly.

Other Offenders

George Savageau, in on drunkenness charges for the fourth time within a year, was given a suspended sentence to the state farm, while Annie J. Maher was returned to that institution. Ludwig Langlois, also charged with drunkenness, received a suspended sentence of one month in the house of correction.

Jake Slarsky pleaded guilty to operating an automobile on Middlesex street, on the evening of June 15 without having a headlight. He paid a $10 fine.

Cases Continued

A number of cases were continued. That of George Yardi, charged with illegal sale of liquor at Dracut, was put over to July 12 for its second continuance. The cases of Addie Fisher and Herve St. Marie, charged with improper conduct, were held over to July 13. Alexander Greenup, charged with drunkenness, pleaded guilty and was held in $200 bonds for a hearing tomorrow, as the police wish to investigate another report in connection with this defendant. The cases of Odilon Rochette and Theodore Hull were also continued.

Among the cases held over was that of Harry A. Kopp, charged with larceny. It is alleged that he presented two checks to Stanley Urbanski, one for $12 and one for $10. Urbanski, it is stated, cashed them, but was unable to realize on the bank in the defendant's name. Two counts are preferred against Kopp, who was held in $200 bonds for tomorrow's session.

Last Year's Alarms Totaled 876—Many Chimney and Dump Fires

Chimney and dump fires caused more alarms calling out members of the local fire department in the year 1920 than any other cause, according to the annual report of Commissioner John F. Salmon and Chief Edward F. Saunders, which was issued today.

There were 23 chimney fires during the year and 53 dump fires. Fires in automobiles caused 31 alarms during the year. There were 84 grass fires and ten alarms were caused by smoking stoves.

Among the freak calls received by the department in the year was one to get a cat out of a tree, another to get children out of a locked room, another to stop a leak in a water pipe, one to rescue boys on a rock, another to stop escaping steam, and seven to thaw water pipes.

The no-school alarm was sounded 29 times during the year and 11 alarms were for out-of-town fires. The greatest number of alarms in any one month was in April, when there were 52.

To Capt. E. W. Bartlett of Hose Co. 10 goes the honor of having answered the greatest number of alarms on days off. He responded to eight alarms while off duty.

The whole number of alarms during the year was 876 and 242 of these were telephone alarms.

During the year three members of the department died. They were Frank A. Corcoran, a hoseman of Engine Co. 2, who was appointed Feb. 15, 1917, and who died Aug. 5; Patrick F. Finerty, a ladderman of Truck Co. 3, who was appointed in July, 1903, and died Sept. 1; and Robert H. Otley, hoseman with Engine 1, who was appointed in December, 1897, and died Nov. 30.

The most important changes in the department during the year were the installation of the two platoon system and the abolition of the call force. The total force of the department now consists of 172 men of which 18 are captains and 16 lieutenants. Twenty-seven permanent men were appointed during the year, one of them being transferred from the call force.

The company to answer the greatest number of alarms during the year, outside of the Protective company, was Hose 8, which responded to 157 alarms.

Reports to Lloyd George

Influence on the conversations to be resumed in Dublin Friday between Eamonn de Valera and Representative southern Irish Unionists.

Premier Lloyd George presided over today's conference. Among the conferees were Sir Hanan Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland; Lord Birkenhead, the lord high chancellor; Edward Shortt, the secretary for home affairs; and A. J. Balfour, lord president of the council.

Sir Horace Plunkett later joined the conference. The vice to still further hopes of favorable results from the conference, in view of Sir Horace's position in Irish affairs.

Officials here were uncommunicative concerning today's conference, believing that any announcement might be prejudicial to the peace party parties. It is believed, however, that General Smuts brought forward the general and his associates definite proposals and that the reply to these will have a great bearing on Friday's conference in Dublin.

More Killings in Ireland

BELFAST, July 6.—Five men were taken from their homes in this district of Newry, 4 miles south of this city, this morning and were shot. Their bodies were left in a heap by the roadside by the men who had put them to death.

Two of the dead men were brothers, and were sons of former Sergeant of Police Reilly. This was the most serious incident that has occurred in the Newry district since disorders began in Ireland.

Two men snatched revolvers from the holsters of constables on a street here this morning and shot the officers who were severely wounded. The men escaped.

A train on the way from Belfast to Londonderry was wrecked near Pomeroy, County Tyrone, last night, rails having been removed from the track. There were no casualties, but cars carrying Belfast goods were burned. Sixteen cars were destroyed, together with all the mail matters on board the train, large quantities of petrol and paraffin being used.

It is understood that the victims of the shooting at Newry were Sinn Fein sympathizers.

Springfield Castle Burned

DUBLIN, July 6.—Springfield castle, the residence of Lord Muskerry, at Drumcollogher, County Limerick, was burned Monday night.

Search For Arms

DUBLIN, July 6 (by the Associated Press).—Crown soldiers were today searching pedestrians for concealed arms in the streets of Dublin.

A police patrol was ambushed last night in Camolin, County Wexford, by men with bombs and rifles. During a 15-minute battle four constables were wounded.

TO BEAD OR NOT TO BEAD

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, July 5.—To bead or not to bead—that is the question. And the answer is bead—many times in the plural.

If you have beads prepare to show them now seems to be the call of this season as it was of last.

Last year we hoped relief might be in sight. But no. The knowledge that we may be trailed anywhere by falling beads isn't the most comforting thought. Nor does a completely debilitated sensation upon arriving home at night make one feel self-satisfied.

"Never again," we cried, at every beaded dress.

And yet here we are gazing admiringly upon a new crop of beads.

While the head will not be used on woolen materials as it was last year it is rampant on lighter materials.

The 20th century maiden would never be satisfied with the tropical mold-of fashions who drapes a bead or two and lets it go at that.

For, now that the wooden bead has come in with a burst of color, we can wear more of them without getting taxed for excess baggage. Wooden beads are stealing the popularity away from the glass, pearl, metal and jet bead—though on dressy dresses the latter are all holding their own.

Colored wooden beads are shown in all sizes, shapes, and hues and are used for all purposes from five-rowed gaudy girlish, hat decorations and necklaces, to dress trimmings.

Especially are these beads used in picking out motifs in embroidery, like sprays of leaves with the stems of beads.

Jet which has for so many years been an expensive luxury has an effective and cheap substitute in the fine wooden bead which has a high jet-like lustre.

One handsome gown of crepe de chine shows detached panels heavily embroidered in those beads which imitate French knots.

Another startling and stunning gown of black lace is studded all over with henna-colored wooden beads.

But the glass bead on dressy gowns still holds sway. One lovely navy blue georgette has sprays of colored flowers on blouse, belt and skirt giving it the appearance of a flower garden or like a bead purse.

Anyway the trail of the bead will be over the land for some time to come.

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Has Your Back Given Out?

Is a dull, constant backache slowing you up—making you feel years older than you should?

Are you tired, lame and achy—tortured with sharp, stabbing pains? Do you find it hard to keep going—impossible to be happy or enjoy your work? It's time, then, you looked to your kidneys! The kidneys are the blood-filters. When they weaken and slow up, the system becomes over-loaded with uric acid and other poisons. Backache, sharp, cutting pains, headaches, dizzy spells and distressing urinary disorders naturally follow. Don't wait for some serious kidney ailment to set in. Help your weakened kidneys before the trouble becomes chronic. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have brought new health to thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Lowell Folks Found Relief:

Miss Minnie L. Earle, 104 Chelmsford street, says: "Before I took Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with a dull, constant ache in my back. Doan's did me of this the first time I took them and I have never had so much trouble since. When I do have any return of the complaint, Doan's Kidney Pills give me the same good relief." (Statement October 23, 1914.) On February 15, 1919, Mrs. Earle said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, and I haven't had a sign of kidney complaint since. I am always glad to endorse Doan's."

Mrs. S. Fawcett, 127 Adams street, says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills are an splendid remedy and worthy of a trial by anyone in need of a kidney medicine. My kidneys were weak and I felt dull and languid mornings. Backaches and headaches annoyed me. My kidneys didn't act regularly at all. After a short use of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was relieved of the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Q. A. Foster, city fireman, 29 Midland street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven their value to me at different times. My kidneys caused me a great deal of trouble, especially when I took cold or over-exerted. Severe pains made it hard for me to stoop or do any lifting. The kidney secretions passed irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved the aches and pains in my back and regulated my kidneys."

Alex. Paterson, baker, 31 Walnut street, says: "Kidney trouble kept me miserable for some time. My back ached and I could hardly stoop while at my work. It was just as hard for me to straighten up. My kidneys acted irregularly. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply, using them as directed. They rid me of the backaches and kidney trouble."

13 HITS FOR TEAM TOTAL

Seven Times in Yesterday's Games Did Teams Collect Baker's Dozen

NEW YORK, July 6.—Thirteen hits for a team total occurred seven times in four games yesterday, and the Baker's dozen was collected in each of the four games. All of the St. Louis National League players aided in hitting out 13 hits to defeat the Pittsburgh leaders. The Washington Americans performed the stunt twice in winning over Boston, which had that number of hits in one of the contests. The Cleveland world's champions and Chicago White Sox each hit the ball safely 13 times, but the Indians scored four times, as many runs as the Sox. The Philadelphia Athletics made 13 hits but lost to New York. Despite the visitors' four run lead obtained in the first inning, pitcher Myers of the Boston Americans earned his salary in the second Boston-Washington contest. The Red Sox pitcher made half of his team's six hits and had eight assists in the field.

LURE OF COMBAT WILL DRAW THE CROWDS

BY DEAN SNYDER
The lure of combat will draw the crowds. Inborn in us all is a love of seeing strength put to the supreme test. High brow, low brow, clear-eyed, near-eyed, thin-skulled, thick-skulled—all brush athletes where battles between trained athletes match blow for blow.

Go between a world's champion and a contender, even if they used battle-axes, swords, clubs, bricks, anything—except all classes and sorts of men to gather.

And the harder it is to get into the enclosure where the contest is held, the more they push and jostle each other to get there.

Action—plenty of it—that's what men want and like and pay dearly to see. And is it worth it? It is.

Most Anything
Fans can see most anything they wish in the American league this summer.

No team has a monopoly on all the thrills.

If you want to see the best pitcher in the circuit go, go out and see Kid Gleason's outfit in action, any afternoon. Red Faber is harnessed to the bat.

The smoothest working infield—take a day off and go out to the park when Hugh Duffy is in town with his Red Sox outfit.

The longest hitter—Babe Ruth & Co. The king hitter—Harry Heilmann & Co. The most powerful Speaker and his world's champions.

The only baseball clown—Nick Altrock in his element.

The greatest player—George Sisler plus John Tobin and the St. Louis Browns.

The unexpected—Connie Mack and his rollicking kids.

Uncle's Rakeoff
Uncle Sam is getting a fist full of nickels at the expense of sport (this year).

His rake-off cuts deeper than anyone else's.

Spring races at Bowie, Pimlico and Havre de Grace noted Samuel 431-600, off the track, off the track, off the track.

His out of the Dempsey-Carp show will be a real thing.

He's making just one mistake, however. That's the tax on sporting goods for which the kids have to pay.

It will be the most sensible to supply kids with balls, bats, gloves, etc., to tax them for their boyish interest in sport.

Few Like Her
A lot of girls have down around New York. Others have walked around the town. But only one girl ever swam around it.

She's Miss Gade, 22-year-old Danish girl, who has been in this country less than a year.

She made the 42-mile swim in 20 hours and finished first.

When she started, the only incident of the swim was a sunburned nose and inflamed eyes due to the glare of the sun.

That's a mighty plucky thing for a girl to do, we'll say.

She did not receive a half million dollars or any part of it for her heroic swim.

There are few girls like Miss Gade in America. There's room for many more of her speed.

AVILA MATCHED TO MEET JOE GIBBS

JOE GIBBS

Johnny "Young" Avila, Lowell's classy welterweight, who is regarded as one of the best men of his weight in this vicinity, was today matched to meet his old rival, Wonnosker Joe Gibbs, in the feature bout of an excellent card to be staged by the Legion post of Haverhill in an open air arena in that city on July 16.

Avila has been laying off since the warm weather set in, but last season he was in the best of condition.

JOHNNY "YOUNG" AVILA

he was one of the most active and successful boxers in this vicinity. Avila and Gibbs appeared in two 10-round bouts at the Crescent A. A. and each contest was a thriller. The first bout between the pair resulted in a decision for Gibbs, but in the second engagement Avila avenged the score.

These bouts drew large houses and were among the best fights seen here during the winter months. Avila has been doing light training for a week or more, but will immediately get down to stiff workouts. His manager feels that he will continue his success of last season and hopes to soon put his opponent Selig Doyle, Shevlin, and some of the other leading welterweights.

JOHNSON TO MEET WILLS AT JERSEY CITY

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 6.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight pugilistic champion, will meet Harry Wills for the negro championship at Jersey City, N. J., August 22. It was announced today. The contest, previously was announced for August 30 at New York.

Johnson, completing a sentence of one year in the federal penitentiary here on a white slave law conviction, has been offered $30,000 or the option of a percentage of the gross gate receipts for the contest.

Johnson's sentence will expire July 15.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Hank O'Day, National league umpire, thinks the game is too lively, is hurting the game, and making "suckers" out of infielders.

"It's a better ball than ever," he said today. "There is no question about that. It's too lively and the cover is stretched so that it's tight as a drum. But it's too lively."

"The ball goes so fast that spectators stop and the plays in the infield are getting to be things of the past. Outfielders play back so far that you seldom see anybody put out at the plate by one throw from the outfield."

MANAGER MITCHELL LOSES STICKPIN

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—The stickpin presented Fred Mitchell by the Chicago National League Baseball club, which he played 13 years in the 1915 pennant race, was stolen yesterday from the clubhouse of the Philadelphia Nationals, together with about $30 in cash. Mitchell, now manager of the Boston Braves, said he did not mind the loss of the money, but that he would have not parted with the pin for several times its value.

TILDEN SAILS FOR UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, July 6.—William T. Tilden, twice winner of the world's lawn tennis singles championship, sailed from England today on board the steamship Olympic. It was announced by officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association, who said they had received a cablegram to that effect. Tilden was accompanied by Zeno Shimizu, the Japanese, who is expected to enter several matches in this country soon.

What Big League Clubs Did in June

BY DEAN SNYDER

June was a lively month for the live-ly ball.

The resilient pill came out of many a wall. Both distance and altitude records have been smashed.

As to the teams, Pittsburgh of the National league and Cleveland of the American started the month in first place and were there at the finish.

Both are playing several points below the speed they finished with in May. But it's enough to keep them at the head of the pack.

The Pirates' decline was due to the slowing up of pitchers. The Indians' slight drop in percentage was a direct result of Steve O'Neill being out of the game. With O'Neill behind the bat the Speakerites are about 30 points stronger than without him.

The Giants took the lead from the Pirates on June 4 and 5, then dropped back. McGraw is experimenting with his infield. Brooklyn started the month in third place and finished in fifth. Rebbie's vets are cracking up. The Braves are playing great ball for Fred Mitchell. The Mitchmen jumped from fourth to third place and are threatening the leaders with their gill-edged pitching.

St. Louis Cards moved up from fifth to fourth place. Branch Rickey is getting good pitching, too. They had one winning streak of 10 in a row. The Cubs boosted their percentage, but clung to sixth place. There isn't enough speed in the Cub machine. Cincinnati got one peg out of the cellar. The Reds played some good ball. Philadelphia is nose-diving deeper yet.

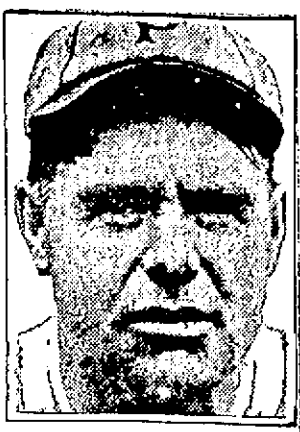

In the American league, New York failed to overtake Cleveland. The Yanks are in-and-outers. Boston has good pitchers and great fielders. Detroit skidded. Cobb's pitchers and infield cracked. Injury to infielders and a shuffling pitching staff kept the St. Louis Browns from getting any place. Chicago has been up and down. Gleason can't expect Faber and Kerr to pitch every other day. Connie Mack's kids did wonders with the bat, but they're still in the subway.

The two graphs show the American and National league races week by week.

DEFINITE ACTION BY REFORMERS EXPECTED

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 6.—Definite action by the International reform bureau in connection with its announced intention of arresting somebody on account of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight Saturday, was looked for today. With Jack Dempsey speeding toward his home in Salt Lake City, officials of the bureau had small chance of serving warrant upon the boxer.

Herbert Clark Gilson, attorney for the reformers declared yesterday that unless Dempsey presented himself in person today, he would obtain a set of warrants for the arrest of Jersey City officials as well as state officials, charging them with violation of the crime act, which prohibits prize fighting.

Clark said that the bureau had small chance of serving warrant upon the boxer.

The bureau, Dr. Crafts announced, has as its immediate object the prevention of fights in the big arena here on Labor day.

TALENT HARD HIT AT WINDSOR RACES

WINDSOR, Conn., July 6.—There was a hard hit at the Windsor races today. The talent was hard hit by the surprise victory of Lurline Bingen in the $2500 220 trot and that of Election Dillon in the $1000 221 trot.

The Bingen mare's race was a five-heal affair, not counting a nullo which the judges declared no contest, while that won by Dillon went six heats, with the judges and the crowd in the Little Orange county station and Littlewood the Great at the finish of the fourth heat.

The talent figured the 220 trot to be a battle between Miss Azoff, Victor Judge, Ed Mack and Handy Forbes. Bingen, the daughter of the late Lurline Bingen, was the favorite.

Harvest Hope was the best in the second heat, with Miss Azoff runner-up. Lurline faded in the race through the stretch.

Miss Azoff was comfortably out in front the next trip. Then came a mile in 2:20, in which Harvest Hope had no serious opposition from the other three starters.

Following this came a dandy finish between Harvest Hope and Lurline Bingen. Johnson hustling the mare home in front in 2:12, she was best in the next heat, giving the McDowell reinman his third $2500 race in two days. The winner is owned by Martin Peterson of Maynard, Mass.

The Hartford stallion Peter L. was a favorite, despite being off form last week at Avon. Sent away behind his field and on a break, he was hopelessly beaten at the start for the 221 trot.

This effort cost him the race, as Election Dillon outraced him home in the third mile, and from that on Election could not keep him on a trot. He made a game try for the sixth heat, jumping a fence in front of the field, but was a few feet from the finish.

Electron Dillon, a son of Dillon Axworthy, 21½, and Bess, 21½, is owned, trained and driven by J. S. Crockett, who is of the Connecticut farm, Monroe, N. Y. Election Dillon's win was a tough one for the spectators.

THIRD DOUBLE HEADLINE IN ROW

BOSTON, July 6.—The third double headline in a row with Washington was on the card today for the Red Sox, who have lost 12 of their last 14 games.

Tonight the team leaves for a western trip. Included in the list of Sox defeats have been both ends of four consecutive double headers.

L'L ARTHA' IS 'COMING BACK'

By Newspaper Enterprise
LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 6.—The world is soon to see again the golden smile of the new Jack Johnson.

When he walks outside the cold prison walls July 9, a free man, he'll be in his fighting trim.

He aims to build anew the career in the ring which made him and which dropped him to the bottom.

Prison life has hardened his muscles. Enloe Sam's simple diet has rebuilt his body.

"I weigh 230 and am as hard as nails," says Jack.

"And Sam, I am ready for the best of 'em."

"I'm to get $30,000 for a match with him."

IN MAJ PRESENT POSITION IT IS NOT KNOWN TO SNEZEE AT.

Miss Harry Wills in New York. That is, I'm guaranteed that much with a privilege of 35 per cent.

"Thirty thousand ain't bad for a man like me, jes' gittin' out of his head place."

In preparation for being a free man, the former champion has ordered his tailors to build him a dozen suits of natty clothes.

His first match is scheduled with Jack Glover of Chicago the night of his release at Leavenworth.

GUARDS AND RUM RUNNERS CLASH

Gun Play, Fists, Clubs and Auto Chase Figured In Maine Case

Bullets Whistle Back and Forth—Official Car Ditched
—Two Caught

HOULTON, Me., July 6.—Gunplay, fists, clubs, a wild automobile chase and the ditching of an official car figured in a clash between three of 11th Sheriff Grant's deputies and a gang of six alleged rum-runners early today in Orient and Hodgdon's Mills.

On Skagonec bridge, the officers, Deputies Grant, son of the sheriff, Clifford and Whitney, aided by Aubrey Snow, seized a liquor laden car and arrested two men who refused to reveal their identity. As they were being handcuffed and placed in the officers' automobile, two more of the "rum cars" appeared out of the morning mist.

Apparently recognizing the officers, the four men in the two machines fled. A fusillade of shots from the deputies' revolvers was sent after them, and bullets whistled back from the cars.

Leaving Deputy Whitney to guard the seized car and dropping Snow at Amity to telephone for assistance, Deputies Grant and Clifford started on a thrilling chase to Hodgdon's Mills. There the four were overhauled, but in attempting to arrest them, Deputy Grant was injured on the chest by a blow from a club. One of the four also was believed to have been injured by a blow by one of the officers. Outnumbered two to one and handicapped by the lack of cartridges, the officers were unable to take them into custody and they again dashed away.

Rushing through the mist the officers' automobile ran into an open culvert, the covering of which the pursued men were alleged to have torn off. The officers and their two handcuffed prisoners were thrown out and barely escaped with their lives.

The two cars, believed to have contained thousands of dollars worth of liquor, then got safely away. The prisoners were brought to the county jail. The number plate of their car is registered in the name of a Bangor man.

Jennings, in connection with the affairs of the Standard Film Industries, Inc., makes eighty times Brodski, politician, former gambler and self-styled "reformed confidence man" has been indicted according to records of San Francisco courts.

Brodski now is under prison sentence of United States courts here following his conviction as the "master mind" of an alleged huge whiskey selling conspiracy which was declared to have involved hundreds of dollars. In a book written by Brodski, he styled himself a "reformed confidence man."

FEDERAL OFFICERS AR- REST LOWELL MERCHANT

William H. Merrill, a local merchant residing on Concord street, was taken into custody shortly after noon today by Federal Officers Nell J. Devaney and Edward Hogan. He was charged with violation of the national prohibition law. Bail was furnished, and he will appear for a hearing in Boston July 7. The arrest was made on Middlesex street.

DATE NOT FIXED FOR JOHNSON-WILLS BOUT

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 6.—The date and the place for the proposed bout between Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills, negro boxer, have not yet been fixed and Johnson has not yet signed a contract. It became known here today, Johnson it was learned, will not enter a contract for the bout until he goes to New York after his release from the federal prison here.

MAN'S BODY IN BOAT WITH KNIFE IN HEART

WAUKESHA, Wis., July 6.—Arthur Taubert of Milwaukee, was found today by a party of fishermen in an earless rowboat, floating on Pawaukeo lake, with a knife in his heart. Taubert was last seen Monday night in the company of a young woman. The knife was the only clue officials had to the supposed murder.

MRS. PERRY FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

YARMOUTH, N. S., July 6.—Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Perry was acquitted yesterday of the charge of murdering her husband, Capt. George Henry Perry, at their home here last February. The trial began a week ago. The jury was out one hour. Perry, a retired sea captain, was found dying at the back door of his home on the evening of Feb. 26. Crown authorities found in a tub on the storm porch an iron bar which they said had evidently been charred in a fire.

BOYS ARRESTED

Charged with unlawfully riding on a train of the Boston & Maine railroad, Irving Joseph Cheney, and Harry J. Monahan, were locked up this afternoon at police headquarters. Special Officers Henry O'Donnell and Chester Hargrave took the two youths, who are 13 and 17 years of age respectively, into custody.

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN EN- DEAVOR CONVENTION

NEW YORK, July 6.—Most of the 15,000 delegates to the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention had arrived today and were ready for the opening session tonight. The largest religious gathering assembled in New York for 20 years will remain until next Monday night when the convention will come to an end.

Several thousand of the delegates arrived yesterday and last night. More than 4000 from the west left their special trains at Albany and completed the trip by special boats down the Hudson. There were 376 delegates on the first special train from Canada. Several hundred from a score of foreign countries arrived last week.

The session tonight will be presided over by Dr. Francis E. Clark of Portland, Me., founder and president of the Christian Endeavor society, which has grown in 40 years to a worldwide organization of 4,000,000 members. Mayor Hylan will deliver the address of welcome for the city. Rev. Dr. Flint, chairman for the city's churches and Frederick A. Wallis for the convention committee. An address on "Christian Endeavor and Business" by Roger Babson will feature the opening session.

SUES POLICE CHIEF WHO FIRED AT HIS AUTO

PITTSFIELD, July 6.—Suits asking total damages of $50,000 were filed in the superior court yesterday by Attorneys Warner & Barker of Pittsfield in behalf of Frank B. Ross of Waterford, Conn., superintendent of a cemetery in that town, against Frank T. Coughlin, chief of police of Lee and George Dana Knox, a member of the board of selectmen. The suits grew out of a sensational chase of autos, after midnight on June 17, between East Lee and Chester, on Jacobs Ladder way. It ended in the arrest of Ross and his acquittal in the Lee district court.

Mr. Ross sues Chief Coughlin for $25,000, alleging "that while he was travelling with his wife and three children on the road between Lee and Chester the defendant stepped from the side of the road at a secluded spot, and without cause or reason attempted to stop the plaintiff by holding up his hands."

"The plaintiff, believing the defendant to be a highwayman, proceeded at accelerated speed and attempted to avoid being molested by the defendant and succeeded in passing him. Thereupon the defendant pursued the plaintiff in an automobile at a high rate of speed and with a pistol, gun or firearm, charged and loaded with gunpowder and leaden bullets, shot, hit and damaged the plaintiff's car and caused him to be in great bodily fear and to suffer great anguish of mind, etc."

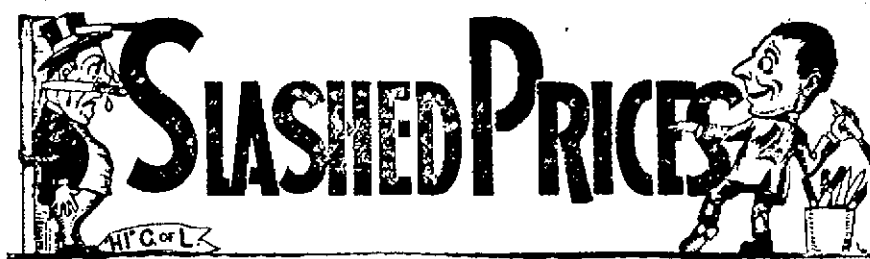

U. S. PEACE RESOLUTION HAILED IN VIENNA

VIENNA, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Utmost satisfaction was expressed today by Austrian officials and newspapers on the adoption by the American congress of the resolution terminating war with Germany and Austria-Hungary.

High hopes entertained here of American financial aid, however, have been dampened by the receipt of dispatches to the effect that the American government will not consider waiving the Austrian reparations while the scheme for rehabilitation of the country rests with the League of Nations.

DAMAGED STEAMER RUSHING FOR PORT

BOSTON, July 6.—The shipping board steamer Isanti which sailed from Norfolk for Glasgow with coal last Saturday, reported by wireless today that she was heading for this port with her steering gear deranged and oil in the fresh water tank. Tugs were dispatched to meet her off Boston light and tow her in.

$200,000 SAFE ROBBERIES

Samuel Bender Arrested Near
New Haven in Connection With Thefts

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 5.—Samuel Bender, who was arrested at Savin Rock near here, last night, for alleged safe robberies in New Jersey, today extradition today. New Jersey officers planned to take him to Newark during the day.

Bender's alleged accomplice, Harry Feinberg, is being held in custody and was held in bonds of $5000 for a continued hearing next Saturday. Both men were charged with larceny of $12000 from the National Biscuit Co. at Newark in August, 1920, when the safe of the company was broken open. The police declare that Feinberg and Bender have been connected with safe robberies involving the theft of nearly $200,000.

Safe Carried Away
WATERBURY, Conn., July 5.—Burglars broke into the branch office and garage of the Charles A. Templeton Hardware Co., last night, and carried the safe away in an automobile, which they stole. The car was found today but the safe containing $300 was missing. The plant is owned by Lieut. Governor Templeton.

IS REAPPOINTED K. OF C. DISTRICT DEPUTY

State Deputy William C. Prout of the Knights of Columbus has just assumed office and has appointed a new list of district deputies for the entire state. Many new names are on the list and but few of the older men have been reappointed. Standing out prominently, however, in the list of reappointments is District Deputy Chas. J. Landers of this city, who though a young man is really one of the veteran deputies of the commonwealth.

Mr. Landers first received his commission from State Deputy Daniel J. Gallagher. Judge Day superseded Mr. Gallagher and renamed the Lowell man each year successively for three years. Now, when Judge Day steps down and the new state deputy comes in, it is gratifying to Lowell members of the order to note that Mr. Landers has again been chosen for another term.

Mr. Landers has been unusually successful as a district deputy despite the exacting nature of his duties and his popularity was attested today when he received an invitation to preside at a exemplification to be held in Claremont, N. H., next Sunday. His district embraces Lowell, Lawrence, Andover and Woburn, but during his term of office he has traveled quite extensively over New England.

Among the new district deputies is James T. Duane, state commander of the American Legion and a personal friend of Mr. Landers.

KING AND QUEEN OF BELGIUM IN LONDON

LONDON, July 5.—(By the Associated Press) King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, amid pre-war splendor and old world ceremony in the historic Guild Hall, today received an array of welcome from the city corporation.

After they were given a luncheon in the great hall, a large and distinguished gathering, including the Duke of York, the Duke of Connaught, the Belgian ambassador and the members of the British cabinet being present, the journey from Buckingham palace to the Guild Hall was made in semi-state through cheering crowds.

WILLARD WILLING TO MEET DEMPSEY

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 5.—Jesse Willard is willing to meet Jack Dempsey again, he said today, on his farm near here.

The former champion added that he was even anxious to get a chance to recapture the world's heavyweight championship which he lost two years ago at Toledo.

"I've led the simple life. I'm in splendid shape today," he said. "I would need four months, for training and conditioning, then I would be ready for Jack Dempsey."

ARSON CHARGED

Men Accused of Blowing Up and Burning House

PALMER, July 5.—Ignazio Ginalo of Thompsonville, Conn., pleaded not guilty today to a charge of arson, as a result of the blowing up and burning of a two-family house here Sunday night. He was held in default of $5000 bonds.

No information has yet been obtained which would show a motive for the wrecking of the house in which no one was injured. An alleged accomplice whose identity is known, is being sought in Thompsonville.

JULY 4th CELEBRATION AT LIMA, PERU

LIMA, Peru, July 4.—The United States Ambassador, William E. Gonsales, gave a reception today in honor of the Fourth of July, which was attended by President Leguia, the members of the Peruvian cabinet, government officials and the diplomats here. The American society of Peru gave a banquet tonight.

The newspapers today published articles praising the United States and sketches of the formation of the North American republic.

Clash at Sestri Ponente, Near Genoa

PARIS, July 5.—Communists of Sestri Ponente, four and one half miles northwest of Genoa, Italy, fired on a group of Extreme Nationalists and a clash ensued in which Carabinieri, in an endeavor to restore order, fired on the combatants, wounding three persons, says a despatch from Rome today. The Communists retreated and barricaded themselves in the Labor Exchange, where they are besieged by both Nationalists and Carabinieri, the despatch adds.

Identify Body of Woman Found in Hotel

BOSTON, July 5.—The body of a young woman found in a South End hotel Sunday with a bullet wound in her right temple, was identified today as that of Dorothy E. Stewart, a stenographer. She had lived at the Young Women's Christian Association up to two months ago, but officers there said today they did not know where she came from. Dr. W. J. Brickley, associate medical examiner, who performed an autopsy said the girl committed suicide. The police are seeking a man who registered at the hotel as William Boyer of Gloucester.

Montreal Pressman Call Off Strike

MONTREAL, July 5.—Three hundred pressmen who struck recently for higher wages returned to work today upon the advice of George L. Berry of Indianapolis, International president of the union. He told them it would be a serious mistake to continue the strike in view of prevailing industrial conditions. They returned under the old contract.

Senator Fletcher Raps G. O. P. Claims

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Republicans were charged today by Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, with making false claims of economy. He declared in the senate that a few hundred nominally paid employees of the government had been discharged in the name of economy while congress proceeded to create additional federal judgeships and to start investigations necessitating employment of clerks and other assistants. Senator Fletcher criticized the legislative policy of what he termed "the unwieldy republican majority" and said three months of the extra session of congress had produced little constructive legislation. Referring to the budget bill as one of the few worth while pieces of legislation, he said that "perhaps there is sufficient hell-and-maria in it to bring results."

REMARKABLE
NEW GUN

New Weapon May Be Developed to Hurl 5 Ton Projec-
tile 200 to 300 Miles

Velocity Ranges From One to Five Miles a Second—May
Be Stopped in Sheet of Steel

NEW YORK, July 6.—Scientists and inventors today discussed the remarkable qualities of a new gun which Dr. Miller Renshaw Hutchinson, former chief engineer for Thomas A. Edison, claims may be developed to hurl a projectile of five tons from 200 to 300 miles. Its velocity, he declared, ranges from one to five miles a second. Its projectile may be stopped in a sheet of steel with the precision of a trolley car.

The gun is the invention of John Temple, an Englishman who developed the idea in this country.

A demonstration was held in Dr. Hutchinson's office on the 51st floor of the Woolworth building. The testing grounds consisted of a box of sand on the floor, over which was placed a sheet of steel three-quarters of an inch thick. Pointing the gun downward, Dr. Hutchinson discharged the weapon. In the sheet of steel there was lodged a projectile three inches long and one-half inch in diameter. The ends stuck out, on either side of the sheet, at right angles.

Dr. Hutchinson explained that the tail end of the projectile was threaded and served the purpose of a bolt. This feature, he declared, could be used in boring a plate over a hole in the hull of a leaking ship at sea.

Dr. Hutchinson said a demonstration was held recently in the New York navy yard of the practicability of deep sea riveting with the gun. A diver went 35 feet below the surface and fired a shot. He refused to believe the gun had been discharged, as he said, there had been no percussion and no recoil. He was shown the plate of the ship he had fired into, however, and later a pressure of eight tons was required to force the projectile from its place.

Opening of Playgrounds

formally opened this season's period of play. At each of the playgrounds the exercises consisted in the salute to the flag and the singing of The Star Spangled Banner. After these were over the supervisors took a list of the children present and the regular playground work was started.

At the South common the playground work will not begin until next Monday because the ground is littered with papers and other refuse left from the midway.

The North Common

Approximately 100 children were on the North common this morning when the supervisors arrived. The forty swings which have been placed on the common were soon filled with happy laughing youngsters while others hastened to start games of baseball, volleyball, "Partner in the Deal," "Cat and Rat," dodge ball, teacher ball and dozens of other games introduced by the supervisors. It was announced that later in the season a volleyball team will be started and these in charge hope that a lot of friendly rivalry will spring up among the various teams on the grounds. It is expected that a class in domestic science will also be inaugurated at this playground.

Miss Mac Sullivan has charge of the sewing class at this particular playground and she expects to have one of the most successful seasons in her experience. Arthur Lynch, one of the city's best known athletes, has been placed in charge of the boys' section of the playground. At an early hour this forenoon Mr. Lynch had already organized two baseball teams among the youngsters and a corking baseball game was soon in progress. Mr. Lynch says that he will spare no pains to make the North common give a good account of itself in the playground league this year. The other supervisors are Miss Natalie McQuade, Miss Charlotte Green, Miss Ruby Blain and Miss Rose Brown.

Greenhatch School

At the Greenhatch playgrounds, where classes in manual training and domestic science were held as an experiment in playground work last summer, preparations are going forward to put these branches of the work on a permanent footing. The class in domestic science presented a very interesting appearance this morning. About 40 girls of various ages were ranged about two long, narrow benches on each of which there was a gas cooker and all the other implements of cookery used in a modern kitchen. The girls all listened eagerly as Miss Coyle, teacher of domestic science, explained to them the approved manner of making milk toast. This lesson was a very elementary one, purposely planned so that each girl could easily grasp the fundamentals principles of toasting the bread and making the milk dressing.

Miss Kane plans to devote the first part of the summer season to the more elemental branches of cookery such as the making of soups, doughs, batters, etc. The work will be made as scientific as possible with special attention given to the most sanitary methods of preparing food. "It is surprising how many of our young people have never heard of the simplest sanitary precautions in cooking, such as the washing of eggs or the thorough cleansing of milk bottles before they are opened," said Miss Kane. "These are the fundamentals which we will try to instill first into the children's minds and after that we can proceed to the more advanced forms of cooking."

Mr. Ralph Luce has charge of the manual training class at the Greenhatch playground, which consists of about thirty boys. Mr. Luce will strive to make his work interesting to his pupils and with this object in view has already started them on the construction of model windmills and airplanes. The other supervisors at this playground are Miss Helen Mann, Miss Alice Gallagher, Miss Muriel Leach and Mr. Edwin Markham.

In Chambers Street

The Chambers street playground also started this morning with over 150 children in attendance. The usual games and elemental sciences are to be conducted at this playground this season. The supervisors are Miss Mildred Collety, Miss Lucy Desmond, and Mr. Arthur Sullivan.

Alken Street Grounds

There was only one drawback at the formal opening of the Alken street playgrounds this morning. The employees of the park department had not been able to get around to install the swings and other paraphernalia, but nevertheless the little ones were entertained in a most enjoyable manner by the supervisor and their assistants and when they left the grounds at noon for luncheon they all promised to return in the afternoon.

No less than 150 boys and girls were on hand at 9 o'clock, when the attendants made their appearance and they greeted the latter with cheers. The boys were entertained at basketball, while the little girls spent the forenoon playing, singing and with folk games. The little kiddos were taken to a shady spot and were told stories that proved both pleasing and instructive. Miss Lucille Washburn is the supervisor in charge of the grounds and she is being ably assisted by Miss Mary Kelly and Miss Mary Down. Miss Washburn stated at noon that she was well satisfied with the attendance, and that the children who visited the grounds behaved nicely and showed a good deal of interest in the program laid out for them.

FUNERAL NOTICES

COYLE.—Died in this city, July 5, at her home, 47 Sumner street, Mrs. Maria Coyle. The funeral will take place Thursday morning from the chapel of Undertaker William A. Mack, 75 Gorham street at 8 o'clock. At St. Peter's church a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Interment will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertaker William A. Mack. Motor cortege.

JOHN M. FARRELL REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY AUCTIONEER

REAL ESTATE AUCTION SALE

Saturday, July 9, 1921, at 2.30 P. M., at No. 15 West Fourth Street, Lowell, Mass.

I shall sell at public auction, to the person who will bid the highest and comply with the terms of sale, a very attractive piece of investment property, consisting of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house, barn, carriage sheds and about 15,500 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 155 feet on West Fourth street. This property is divided in two pieces, but will be sold in one lot.

The first piece consists of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house of 5495 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 75 feet on West Fourth street.

The first floor has 7 rooms, pantry, bathroom, front and back halls, ice chest built in.

The second floor has 10 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

The third floor has 7 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

There are closets in almost every room in each tenement, and fireplaces in some of the front rooms.

The house has large bay windows on front and side, piazzas, electric lights throughout, hot and cold water, steam heat, front and back stairs, cemented cellar with bulkhead, slate high on the lot, has granite steps and granite-capped wall in front. The building is in excellent condition, has been remodeled, the rooms newly papered and has been painted inside and out. It is in good condition to rent. This property can be used as a rooming house, 3-tenement house, or divided into kitchenette apartments.

The second piece consists of a lot of land containing about 10,500 square feet, with a frontage of about 50 feet on West Fourth street, the next lot to the above, on which there is a large barn and carriage sheds. The buildings on this lot are out of repair but could be remodeled, or the lumber there could go a long way in erecting a tenement house, which could be easily rented, as this is a desirable location near Bridge street, but 5 minutes' walk from West Fourth square, and near many large mills and workshops. This is a fine location for a garage.

A better opportunity for investment is seldom offered.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as the property is sold. Other terms at sale.

JOHN M. FARRELL, Auctioneer in charge.

REPORT SERIOUS
FIGHTING ON

Paris Hears of Clash About 70
Miles North of Brussa, Asia
Minor

Allies May Be Forced to Hostile
Action Against Turkish
Nationalists

PARIS, July 5.—Serious fighting has occurred in the neighborhood of Baghdad, about 70 miles southwest of Brussa, Asia Minor, says an Angora despatch quoting an official statement issued by the Turkish nationalist military headquarters.

Hostile Action Threatened

LONDON, July 6.—Great Britain, France and Italy may be compelled to adopt extensive and concerted measures against the Turkish nationalists, it was declared by a number of London newspapers this morning. Reports that the nationalists have actually penetrated the neutral zone east of Constantinople and along the Sea of Marmora, have not been confirmed, but there is reason to fear that they are concentrating forces to attack Constantinople. The allied high commissioners at Constantinople have been conferring with General Harrington, commander of allied forces there, regarding steps to be taken in the event of a probable advance by the nationalists.

General Harrington will have no alternative but to resist a Turkish advance to the utmost for the purpose of securing respect for the neutral zone. Should hostile action be necessary, British naval forces may be employed in opposing the Turks, the London Times stated today.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF
FOREIGN BORN FARMERS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The number of foreign born farmers in the United States has decreased from 55,502 or 13.2 per cent. in the last ten years, the census bureau announced today. The decrease, which was $1,118 among German-born farmers alone, was due, it was said, to the large number of foreign-born who returned to their native countries during the war.

Native white farmers, who numbered 4,917,565 in 1920, constituted 55 per cent. of the nation's tillers. The remainder were divided as follows:

Foreign-born white $51,051; negroes, 926,251; Indians, 16,312; Japanese, 6329; Chinese, 625.

States showing the largest percentage of foreign born white farmers in 1920, were: North Dakota, 16.7; Minnesota, 14.7; Connecticut, 13.7; Washington, 12.8; California, 12.1; Wisconsin, 12.5.

Japanese farmers settled almost exclusively in the far western states, the census showed. California led with 5132; Washington had 639; Colorado, 321; and Oregon, 224.

A Brooklyn judge refused to admit as evidence in a burglar's case a bag containing dynamite, fuses and blasting caps which were brought into court. When the prosecutor directed an expert to fit the caps to the fuses the judge suggested that the test be made before the grand jury.

FUNERALS

DE ABREY.—The funeral of Ricardo de Abrey took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, John and Matilda Gonzales de Abrey, 19 Bradford street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church, prayers being read by Rev. J. J. McCarthy. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Roy Knapp and Miss Helen Lyons were married July 5 by Rev. A. G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The best man was Mr. James Sutcliffe, while the maid of honor was Mrs. Jessie Sutcliffe, a sister of the bride. Upon their return from a wedding trip the couple will make their home at 131 High street.

Charles E. Whelan today assumed his duties as superintendent of the Lowell district of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., succeeding Vard B. Leavitt, who has been transferred to Melrose. For the past few months Mr. Whelan has been working in the Boston office of the company and is a street railway man of wide experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gagnon, who were recently married in this city, were tendered a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gagnon, 118 Gershom avenue, upon their return from their wedding trip July 3. There were numerous guests present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. Musical numbers were given and refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Gagnon will make their home at 331 Merrimack street.

FOREST FIRES ARE SPREADING

QUEBEC, July 6.—Forest fires were reported today from many sections of the province, following news last night that flames were sweeping through the dry timber belt of northern Ontario.

Two fires were burned away at Breakeville, Que., and other fires were destroying woodlands in the districts of Abitibi, Beauce, St. Maurice, Rivier, Saguenay, and on the northern shore at Skeeter Bay and Tokomostok.

SELECTING JURY TO TRY MACMILLAN TO START

BASEBALL PLAYERS FOR NORTH JULY 16

CHICAGO, July 6.—The task of selecting a jury to try the 18 White Sox players and alleged gamblers indicted in connection with the 1919 baseball scandal was continued today, although there was little prospect of securing a jury immediately.

Three prospective jurors were tentatively accepted yesterday by the state which is subjecting all potential jurors to a lengthy questioning regarding their knowledge of any connection with baseball.

Jurors are being asked by the state whether they have ever played baseball, amateur, semi-professional or professional, and whether they are baseball fans.

THIRD TROLLEY STRIKE IN

4 YEARS AT DAYTON

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Dayton today was held in the grip of its third street car strike in four years. Employees of all six traction companies, with the exception of the City division of the Cincinnati & Dayton Interurban line, voted unanimously at 3 o'clock this morning to strike, effective at once.

Employees claim that the companies have violated their agreement by announcing a new maximum wage of 4 cents an hour without arbitration. They claim an attempt is being made to break the power of the union and start an open shop policy.

BASEBALL PLAYERS

BOSTON, July 6.—Donald B. MacMillan will make his start for the Arctic regions on July 16 from Wiscasset, Me., he announced today. Governor Baxter of Maine and other state officials will be among the party to bid the little schooner Bowdoin Godspeed on her journey to explore Baffin land. The Bowdoin is now at Portland, taking on supplies.

The addition of Ralph Robinson of Haverhill as the seventh member of the exploring party, was also announced by the head of the expedition. Robinson was formerly a student at Worcester academy under MacMillan and was later an assistant of MacMillan in summer school work in Maine. More recently he has been in charge of physical instruction in the Haverhill schools. He will act as general assistant to the explorer.

British Fleet Moves Towards Constantinople PROSPECT OF PEACE IN IRELAND BRIGHTER Troops Are Called to Quell Strike Disorders

Formal Opening Today of City Playgrounds—Season of Super- vised Play in Full Swing

"Educators are coming to realize that the long summer vacation presents a serious problem. Those who look after the welfare of our children know that it is not good for boys and girls to remain idle for more than two months out of each year. It is this need that we are trying to fill by our work in the manual training classes and on the playgrounds."

Mr. Ralph Luce, supervisor of manual training and the mechanical arts at the Greenhalge playground, spoke these words this morning at the opening exercises of his class which were held in the Greenhalge school. And that was the idea that seemed uppermost in the minds of the playground teachers throughout the city as the season of supervised play got into full swing. They were all united in the thought that here is an opportunity to do lasting good to large numbers of children—an opportunity fully as great as that afforded to regular teachers in the winter session.

Thousands of children, ranging in age from 5 to 14 years, flocked eagerly to the playgrounds this morning to participate in the exercises which

Entire Mediterranean Fleet En Route For, or Concentrated Near Constantinople

British Military Reinforcements Said to be Going Out From England

MALTA, July 6 (By the Associated Press).—Virtually the entire British Mediterranean fleet is en route for or concentrated within easy reach of Constantinople, where the situation is viewed with some anxiety. It is said that British military reinforcements are going out from England.

Even the reserve ships here are destined for the east, and the vessels which recently sailed in that direction have carried large supplies of munitions.

ANNUAL PROPERTY SALE FOR UNPAID TAXES

The annual sale of property for unpaid taxes opened this morning in the office of the city treasurer and 11 parcels of real estate were disposed of. The property was sold for the non-payment of 1919 taxes. Owing to the absence of a large number of bidders and the fact that there still remain 20 parcels to be sold, the sale will be continued tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

There was a large tax sale on in Boston today and local treasury officials incline to the belief that this counter-attraction kept many bidders away from Lowell. However, it is expected that the entire list will be disposed of tomorrow. One of the parcels

NEW YORK, July 6.—The municipal political pot is beginning to boil. Plans are well under way for opposition to John F. Hylan, mayor for four years and a candidate for re-election in November, with Tammany support.

Kaber Murder Jury Completed

CLEVELAND, July 6.—A jury to try Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, on a charge of murdering her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, was obtained a few minutes after 12 o'clock today. There are no women on the panel.

The jury was immediately sworn in and will be taken to Lakewood this afternoon to view the home in which Mr. Kaber was stabbed to death, after which counsel will make statements to the jury.

Japanese Kill 500 Koreans In Battle

SEOUL, Korea, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reports have reached Japanese military headquarters here that a battle has occurred on the Siberian border between Japanese and Koreans in which 500 Koreans were killed or wounded.

Several thousand malcontent Koreans are alleged to have joined the Siberian bolsheviks.

Man Who Witnessed Killing of Canon Magner, Parish Priest, Seized by Armed Men

Rev. Fr. O'Kennedy Arrested by Soldiers During Retreat of Clergy Today

CORK, Ireland, July 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Patrick Brady, a magistrate who witnessed the killing of Canon Magner, parish priest of Dunmanway, in December last by Cadet Harle, was kidnapped today by unknown armed men. He was taken from his residence in Ballylickey, West Cork.

Brady testified at the military inquiry into the killing of Canon Magner, which resulted in the verdict that Harle was guilty of his murder but was insane at the time the crime was committed.

The Rev. W. O'Kennedy, president of St. Finian's college in Ennis, was arrested by soldiers this morning and removed to Limerick. The annual retreat of the clergy of the Killaloe diocese was in progress when the arrest occurred. The charge against the Rev. Mr. O'Kennedy is not known.

TARIFF BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Measure, Praised and Denounced by Republicans, Formally Submitted

Chairman Fordney Characterized Effort as a "Magna Charta"

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Praised and denounced by republicans, the administration tariff bill came formally today before the house of representatives.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, in a report which he said he understood all republican members except Representative Fear of Wisconsin would sign, characterized the effort of the committee as a "Magna Charta for the perpetuation of American standards of living and the constitution of a uniform and universal prosperity."

Representative Fear had previously made public his minority report in which he denounced the bill as "containing provisions fundamentally indefensible" and as an abandonment of specific party pledges.

PROPOSE "HELLO AL" AS LEGION GREETING

BOSTON, July 6.—"Hello, Al" will be the accepted form of greeting for Massachusetts members of the American Legion, if a resolution prepared today by officers of the state department is adopted at the convention to be held in September at North Adams. "Al" represents the initial letters of the organization's name, and also, it was explained, is a reminder of a familiar French greeting "Allo."

BODY OF PRIVATE MARR ON WAY HOME

The body of Private Walter A. Marr of this city, will arrive in New York from France July 11. He was killed at Chateau Thierry, July 22, 1918, while a member of Company "L," 102d Infantry, 26th Division. Prior to the war he was a member of old "K" company, of the Sixth regiment. He went to New Hampshire for guard duty in February, 1917. From there he was transferred to Framingham, and subsequently to Camp Devens. On Labor day, 1917, he departed for Camp Yale, at New Haven, Conn. Five days later he was aboard ship and bound overseas. He participated in all the big battles where American troops were engaged.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Quinn Marr, survives him, together with three children, Leonard C., Virginia A., and Marion. The remains, upon arrival in Lowell, will be taken to C. H. Morrill's home for burial. Private Marr, before the war, was employed for many years at the North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co. plant.

Five Sinn Fein Sympathizers Taken From Homes Near Belfast and Shot

Train Wrecked—Mail Cars Destroyed — Springfield Castle Burned

LONDON, July 6.—(By the Associated Press).—General Jan Christian Smuts, South African premier, upon his return from Ireland today, conferred with Premier Lloyd George, Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and Earl Minto, the southern unionist leader.

General Smuts reported the result of his talks with the Sinn Fein leaders on the Irish situation.

The conference was surrounded with the greatest secrecy, but it is understood that it primarily concerned itself with conditions for the possible suspension of hostilities in Ireland.

Official circles express belief that a cessation of active operations is almost indispensable as an aid to progress in the peace deliberations.

The feeling generally was that today's conference would have a marked

GERMAN OFFICER FREED

Was Accused of Ordering Men to Kill Wounded During Fighting

LEIPZIG, July 6.—Maj.-Gen. Karl Stenger, charged by the French government with having ordered troops under his command to take no prisoners and kill wounded men during the fighting of August, 1914, was acquitted today by the German supreme court engaged in the trial of cases against alleged war criminals.

Maj. Bruno Crusius, tried on a similar charge, was given a sentence of two years in prison, and forbidden to wear the German uniform.

Gen. Stenger in his testimony flatly denied the accusations against him.

The verdict against Maj. Crusius was manslaughter.

Lowest Mortality in City's History Indicated by Figures for First Six Months of 1921

Lowell is going to have one of the lowest mortality records in its history this year, judging from statistics for the first six months of the year as compared with the first six months of the past few years.

Up to July 1 this year there were only 788 deaths in Lowell while at a corresponding time last year 982 deaths had been reported. In 1919 on July 1 the total deaths for the year were 965 and in 1918 when the half-year mark had been reached 1005 deaths had been recorded.

Greater precaution on the part of the public as the result of educational propaganda on health matters together with the absence of any serious epidemic are given as reasons for the decrease in mortality this year.

Not only has the general death rate decreased but there have been fewer deaths of children here this year than in the years immediately preceding, according to records of the board of health. For instance, in the first six months of 1918, 224 children under one year had died, and in 1919 during the first six months 174 infants passed away. The figure for 1920 was 199 but this year a new record is established. Only 145 children under one year have died since January 1.

Deaths of children under two show a similar decrease this year. Up to July 1 there had been only 172 deaths of children under this age, while a year ago 245 deaths were recorded in this column up to July 1. In 1919 there had been 203 and in 1918 281. Deaths under five for the first six months of the year were also lower this year than in any of the three preceding years.

ACCUSED MEN DODGED DRAFT

Both Sacco and Vanzetti Went to Mexico in 1917 to Escape Military Service

Excursion to Mexico of Group of Men Brought Out at Murder Trial

DEPHAM, July 5.—An excursion to Mexico by a group of seven or eight men to avoid the draft and military service in 1917 was brought to light today in the cross examination of Bartolomeo Vanzetti, testifying in his own behalf at the trial of himself and Nicola Sacco for the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree a year ago. Dist. Atty. Frederick G. Katzmann developed that both Sacco and Vanzetti were members of the party.

Vanzetti, who had been living in Plymouth, said he went to Monterey, Mexico, in 1917, and spent four or five months there. Six or seven friends accompanied him, among them Sacco. The party entered Mexico through Laredo, Tex.

The district attorney referred to Vanzetti's testimony that he was arranging a meeting of fellow Italians at Brockton in the interest of Andrea Salzedo and Roberto Elia, detained as radicals by department of justice officials at New York, when he and Sacco were arrested on May 5, 1920.

The defendant acknowledged that

STATE TROOPS ORDERED OUT

Three Companies of National Guard Go to Fitzgerald, Ga. Following Outbreak

Train Attacked — Engineer Fatally Wounded — Wreck of Strike Disorders

FITZGERALD, Ga., July 6.—Three companies of the Georgia National Guard were due to arrive here early today to take hold of the situation arising from an attack by alleged strikers and strike sympathizers on an Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railway train last night during which Engineer W. T. Held was mortally wounded. The attack, which followed a week of strike disorders here during which numerous shots have been fired at railway employees who have taken the places of strikers, occurred at Small's mill, two miles from here, and is said to have been made by strikers who have been on picket duty there for weeks.

Following the attack a cordon of deputies was immediately thrown around the A. B. & C. shops here and although no further disorders occurred, county officials regarded the situation as serious and appealed to Governor Hardwick for state troops.

WANTS DEMPSEY TO MEET JACK JOHNSON

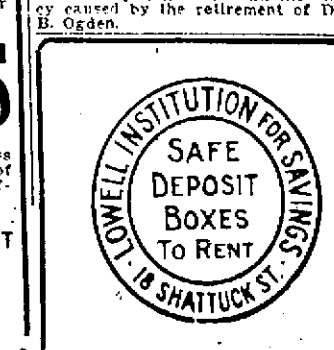

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—Capt. J. H. McCaw, a wealthy clubman of Pasadena, has sent a telegram to Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, asking him to arrange for Jack Dempsey to meet Jack Johnson, labor day, half the receipts to go to the fighters and half to the American veterans of the world war, he announced today.

The message was endorsed and authorized by Post No. 1 of the American Legion in Los Angeles, according to Capt. McCaw.

"To insure Dempsey an adequate return for his services, I will arrange for satisfactory guarantees for his portion to be not less than $200,000," the telegram said.

By H. B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, July 6.—When William Howard Taft dons the silken robes of chief justice on the convening of the supreme court next October, he again will have picked up the judicial career, which was his life's ambition, but which he abandoned in 1895 at the impetuosity of President McKinley and Secretary of War Elihu Root. Taft, educated in the law, viewed as the pinnacle of his hopes a seat on the federal supreme bench. He had risen rapidly, following his graduation from Yale, and was presiding over the court of appeals for the second time when President Taft, following the report of the Schurman commission on the Philippines, wired him to call at the White House. That visit was to change Taft's entire career; to lift him from the judicial pursuits he loved; throw him into the arena of national politics; make and unmake him as president, and finally return him, under another Ohio president, to the career from which he had been drafted. McKinley told Taft that he wanted him to go to the Philippines as governor general and set up a civil government there. Root joined the president in his plea, and although loath to abandon his work on the bench, Taft consented. As he told a friend in later years, he "chose the road to Damascus" and wound up far ahead. But the appointment by President Harding places him, finally, at the goal for which he started. After a year and a half in the Philippines, Taft returned to be Secretary of War under Roosevelt. Roosevelt's control of his party organization put Taft across for the republican nomination and election as president in 1908. Taft, the jurist, has been praised for his powers of reasoning and his unassailable logic. But in practical politics it appeared that he was devoid of political judgment. Taft's weakness as president, his close friends will tell you, however, was not that he couldn't use the political moves that would keep him out of trouble, but that he wouldn't stoop to make them. They cite the case of the treaty of reciprocity with Canada, which he sponsored vigorously against the advice of many party leaders. On the day he signed the bill he greeted a caller with the announcement: "Well, we've now got a treaty of reciprocity with Canada." "That so; what do you think of it?" the caller inquired. "I think I've signed my political death warrant," Taft replied, "but it's worth it." Again, in 1912, when the fight was hottest for delegates to the Chicago convention, a senator, through an intermediary, approached Taft on the subject of a pardon for a man convicted of murder, with the intimation that a pardon might mean the switching of a block of delegates. "Tell him," Taft sent back word, "that I'm not trading murderers for delegates." Poor politics? Certainly; but typical of the absolute integrity and incor-

HAD NO IDEA IT WOULD HELP HIM

Nadeau Had Been Suffering Five Years and Thought His Case Beyond Reach

"Tanlac has made me healthy, strong and happy, and I don't remember the day I ever felt any better than I do now," said Arthur J. Nadeau, of 14 Waverly st., Taunton, Mass., who holds a responsible position for the Whittendon mills. "I had been suffering for five years before I got Tanlac and had reached the point where I thought I was going to have to give up entirely, for I was almost a complete wreck. My stomach was in such awful condition I had to live on the lightest kind of things, such as milk and the like, for if I ate a single bit of heavy food it would almost drive me mad with pain. I would vomit with gas until I was simply miserable, and had such knife-like pains around my heart they were almost unbearable. My head ached until it seemed like my eyes would pop out, and I became so dizzy I would have to stop my work for a few minutes until my sight cleared. My sleep was so restless it didn't seem to do me any good, and I had gotten in such bad shape I had almost given up the idea of being able to do anything to help me."

"One of our neighbors got my wife to buy Tanlac for me, and although I had very little faith in the medicine at the time, I had been thinking a thousand times since that she did so, for four bottles have rid me entirely of all my troubles. I eat like a farm hand now, never feel a bit of stomach trouble or have an ache or pain of any kind but just feel fine all the time. Why, I'm just like a new man out and out, and I can do nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co. Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

ruptibility of the man who now ascends the supreme bench. Men who have been closest to Taft in a personal way swear by him as the cleanest-minded, most mentally wholesome individual they ever knew in public life.

His break with Roosevelt came most nearly developing an acid trace in his character, but that was not so much because of its effect on him personally as because he saw in Roosevelt's campaign of 1912 an attempt to wreck the republican party.

On the evening of election day, 1912, when word was carried to him that he had been defeated, he laughed. "Well," he said, "I had my triumph at Chicago; because at Chicago we preserved the republican party."

His insistence on following his conscience regardless of political effect, it is said in inside republican circles, probably prevented his receiving the republican nomination for president last year.

Had he been willing to deal with republican senators opposed to the League of Nations, he could have had nomination on a platter, it is stated. But he would not. When he appeared on the same platform with President Wilson in New York, in support of the league, his name was stricken from the roster of presidential eligibles.

Taft's work as a member of the War Labor board, during the war, did much to ally opposition to his supreme bench appointment on the theory that he was ultra-conservative. His decisions on the board were, in the main, more satisfactory to labor than the employers.

In the eight years since he left the White House, Taft has been a professor of constitutional law at Yale, an editorial writer for a Philadelphia newspaper and joint chairman of the war labor board. He has lived simply, but happily.

His wife, who was in poor health during most of his term at the White House, is again enjoying fine health. Both his boys, Bob and Charley, are practicing law in Cincinnati and are happily married. Helen, only recently married, has been acting dean at Bryn Mawr.

With his family thus happily settled, the appointment that takes Taft back to the bench—the career of his choice—and in the highest judicial position anywhere, brings to him, naturally, the utmost satisfaction.

Taft's appointment came at the time he had completed arbitration of the valuation of the Canadian Grand Trunk Lines, preparatory to their being taken over by the Canadian government. He plans, however, to spend the summer with Mrs. Taft at their summer home on Murray Bay, on the St. Lawrence river, coming to Washington early in the fall.

INTERVIEWS TIGER

By MILTON BRONNER

PARIS, July 6.—"Interview Georges Clemenceau."

Those are my orders! Just imagine a tall, cold-looking sphinx suddenly turned into an old man of 80, with Chinese features and occasionally omitting a word or two as if begrudging every syllable.

That's Clemenceau! There is no pomp about the Tiger of France. Almost anybody can walk in on him in his lair in the Passy district of Paris.

But almost anybody is futs as apt to walk right out again! His home is like that of a struggling lawyer. Furniture and rugs are old and time-worn, like their owner.

There are books everywhere, and casts of great Greek sculptures and pictures of still other sculptures. On the table there is a book the old man has been studying. It tells how to raise garden vegetables.

The Tiger purrs pleasure at feeling you. I hoped to draw him out by telling him what I saw recently in Germany. He listened like a sleepy feline. Then, finally, he said:

"Very interesting!"

I ventured the opinion that if France found she was able to protect herself against the deep-seated German hatred, it was largely due to his work in drawing up certain sections of the Versailles treaty.

With his hands crossed on his stomach, he spoke seven words: "We all did our best at Versailles."

I asked how America could help France today.

Eloquent silence! I inquired was he going back into French politics?

Even more eloquent silence. More questions, from me and—

"Young man, I speak several languages and I know how to keep still in all of them."

SHORT SKETCHES OF CITY HALL DWELLERS

Most of the infrequent visitors at city hall usually go for the purpose of paying a bill of some sort or other—a tax bill, water bill, or some other assessment levied by the city. For that reason the city treasurer's office, located right near the main entrance of the municipal building, is one of the best known of the city hall dwellers. In its second sketch of city hall dwellers The Sun will attempt to give its readers an insight into the man who presides at the head of this office where thousands of dollars are handled every week—City Treasurer Fred H. Rourke.

In personal appearance Mr. Rourke gives every indication of the typical financial man. He is cool and untroubled at all times but the close observer never fails to note that there is a certain degree of determination and shrewdness in his makeup. He handles the city's money without fuss or pomp, but when it comes to driving a bargain where there is a possibility of saving a little money for the municipality, Mr. Rourke doesn't allow his placid disposition to be imposed upon.

LIQUOR RULING UPHOLD

Law Forbidding Transit Across Country Sustained By Daugherty

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Atty. Gen. Daugherty has affirmed the department of justice decision of Feb. 4, barring out of the United States liquor in transit. During the last administration, while Atty. Gen. Palmer was absent from his office, Frank K. Nebeker, acting for him, signed an opinion ruling against the landing of intoxicating beverages. It was understood at the time that Miss Annette Abbott Adams, assistant attorney general, had written the decision and that she was naturally inclined to the "dry."

Immediately after President Harding came in, attorneys for liquor interests in Canada and Latin-American countries and anti-prohibitionists in the United States asked for a review of the facts. Mr. Daugherty finally yielded, and after a hearing, stood by Mr. Nebeker.

The extremists contend that under the ruling not only is liquor intended for embassies and legations at Washington barred from transport, but that foreign liners cannot come into United States port with liquor on board.

There is a pretty general belief, however, that the state department, which preserved the convoluted rights of the diplomats before, will not prove less resourceful this time, and that some way will be found to get around the difficulty in regard to liners also.

The ruling, however, puts an absolute stop to the large shipments by Canadian distillers across this country to South America and the West Indies and the return traffic to Jamaica and Barbados runs, Curaçao, etc.

The Willys-Campbell bill, which is intended to regulate the medical use of beer, will come before the full senate judiciary committee today. It is predicted that a favorable report will be ordered before the committee adjourns. A number of amendments have been proposed by the subcommittee which has the measure in charge.

PRaises HARVEY'S SPEECH

London Papers Comment on U. S. Ambassador's July
4th Address

LONDON, July 6.—Commenting on the speech of Ambassador Harvey at the American society dinner, the London Times says the ambassador "manfully kept his word not to twist the lion's tail or make the eagle scream," but rather "gave the lion and eagle excellent advice."

The Times declares the policy of friendship and closer relations between England and the United States is as old as the republic—"It was laid down in all essentials in the first audience which the first minister of the United States had with the last king of England who reigned over the American colonies."

Mr. Harvey, adds the paper, is only following the precedent created by John Adams, and President Harding is only leading the footsteps of George Washington "when they work together for esteem, confidence and affection between the people of the British empire."

Diplomatic representatives of more than 30 foreign governments were guests at the annual independence day dinner of the American society of London, at which Ambassador Harvey was the guest of honor.

Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty, toasting the guest, referred to Mr. Harvey as "a foreign envoy to whom the muzzles of diplomacy had not been obtrusive." "Therefore," he said, both "Britain and America could expect from him open and frank comment upon Anglo-American relations."

PLUMBERS WORKING AT AUDITORIUM

The report that the plumbers employed on the auditorium job went on strike yesterday morning was denied today by Treasurer Dennis J. Fendergast of Plumbers' union, Local 403, U.A.F.S. Mr. Fendergast also stated that the statement that a reduction of wages of 10 cents an hour for the plumbers on the auditorium had gone into effect, was untrue.

Mr. Fendergast, who is employed on the auditorium, admits the men on the job did not work yesterday. He said they reported for work as usual in the morning and remained in the building until noon without doing any work and then went home. They all returned to work this morning. When asked why the men did not work yesterday, he said it was because of some technicality, which, according to union rules, he could not make public, but he assured The Sun that there never was a strike on the part of the plumbers on the auditorium since the job was started and that all men are working. He further stated that if the men are working on a new scale of wages, they are not aware of it.

Nearly One-Third of Entire Working Population of England Is Out of Employment

Do you know that three millions of people, or nearly one-third of the entire working population, is in the ranks of the jobless in England today? We think that times are hard here in America, in Massachusetts, in Lowell. But read what confronts the English laboring man. The most menacing feature of the entire situation, says Frank Knox in today's article, is the attitude of the man in the street. He is cynical, and if he is a war veteran he wonders if his sacrifices have been in vain. The Englishman of today is quite a separate being from the British government, Mr. Knox points out. He is quite as disgusted with the way things are being handled as the most rabid Anglophobe.

Another portion of today's article will be read with unusual interest locally, as a result of a recent announcement from the state aid headquarters at city hall, that funds are running low. Mr. Knox tells of the evils of the so-called "unemployment pay" in England. This is the equivalent of what is given out to American war veterans out of a job in Massachusetts.

(Fourteenth Article)
By FRANK KNOX

LONDON, June 3.—Contrasted with either the United States or France, England is today feeling most acutely the after-effects of war. Out of probably ten million workers, more than three millions are unemployed. This is a very moderate estimate. Many put the figure even as high as four million. With one man out of three idle in America we would be on a parity as to conditions with England. And never since the war have we approached this figure. And a curious factor, originally prompted by humanitarian purpose, but now operating to the distinct disadvantage of the classes, is the unemployment pay.

It is sufficient to keep body and soul together and upon many, disheartened and left without ambition by the war, it has had the effect of making them indifferent as to how soon they find employment, thus removing the vital impulse so necessary to work to live. This is not meant to be a sweeping indictment of the soundness of some form of unemployment pay but the present situation in England, very emphatically, warns against such a policy, not properly safeguarded against willing unemployment.

In America we may find a parallel only in the manner in which we have treated some of our Indian tribes where payments under ancient treaties have sufficed to give the Indian enough to keep alive and thus utterly robbed him of motive to better his lot. These tribes, supported in utter squalor and extreme poverty by the dole of the government, constitute the same problem for us—and thus far we have found it insoluble—that England faces for a great body of her working people.

The hope of England, as of every country with democratic institutions, is its huge unorganized middle class. Under present intolerable conditions, this great majority is being forced into class consciousness of a sort which promises effective political reprisals if the government does not speedily find a remedy for some of the worst evils from which it suffers. One cannot go about the city talking with tradesmen and other middle class folk without gaining right speedily the impression that the great English public which, after all, is neither the titled nor wealthy upper class, nor the trades unionists who are intensively organized, is going to make itself audible and effective in the crisis toward which affairs are obviously drifting.

The numerous strikes which have paralyzed business in every line, including the coal strike which seems to be steadily drifting toward an impasse, are explained by the man on the street (and your Englishman, like your Frenchman, is much better informed on political questions than the man of the same character in the United States) by the declaration that the employers have tried to get back to pre-war conditions too swiftly and principally at the expense of the wage earners. Efforts have been directed toward a summary reduction of wages by 50 per cent, as in the coal industry, without waiting for the costs of living to go down to the same extent. Living costs in England are still about double what they were before the war. It is regarded here as a tribute to the superior acumen of the American employer that he tried to keep reduction in wages and reduction in the cost of living as nearly as could be on a parity. I have found no one who did not agree that a cut of 20 to 25 per cent in English wages could have been put into effect without demoralizing business.

Tradesmen are very pessimistic about retail business. The smart shops which cater to the tourist trade are fairly busy but the backbone of retail business is, of course, the trade of the English people and the latter are practicing thrift to an extent which matches their best effort during the war. England, like the United States, had a consumers' strike, the fruit of continued high prices after the war, and then this voluntary withholding of trade has been followed by a compulsory economy due to the drying up of the sources of income. The result is that the appearance of the people one meets on the street is distinctly shabby and threadbare. And their clothes very accurately reflect the mental attitude, it too is threadbare. The Englishman is very despondent over the future. He is down on his luck, and the men who fought the war are distinctly cynical. They openly question the worth-while-ness of their sacrifice to save a country, as they put it, now under the control of a lot of self-seeking politicians, where privilege still haunts itself callously before the eyes of the men and women who paid with their blood for the preservation of institutions which were impossible to say. Probably all con-supposed to protect the commoner against the very exploitation from which he suffers. There is the sharpest possible contrast between the condition of the popular mind in France and that manifested in England. France wasted the first year after the armistice but her people have gone to work with a will and look forward to better times in the immediate future. England wasted time right after the war but England has not gone back to work. Whether the blame rests on the working people as a whole, the portion of the workers who belong to unions and who have submitted to radical leadership, or upon the capitalist class, it is impossible to say. Probably all contributed more or less to a situation which at this time looks pretty dark and ominous. Really the only philosophy the optimistically inclined Britisher can summon into now is thus expressed: "We have jolly well muddled through every nasty time in the past, I suppose we will muddle through this one, some way, too."

Do Flying Fish Fly or Simply Soar?

By WALLACE CRAIG

Professor, University of Maine
If you should go on a long voyage in the warm southern seas, either the Atlantic or the Pacific, you would be almost sure to be entertained by the sight of fishes rising from the water and flying for some distance through the air.

Flying fish have a peculiar, powerful tail by means of which they dart, quick as a flash, to the surface of the water and out into the air.

There is difference of opinion as to whether flying fish can fly in the strict sense of the word, or can only soar.

Professor Whitman, one of the greatest of American naturalists, states that he saw flying fishes flapping their fins like wings, and turning to right and left in their flight in a manner that could not be done if the fish were merely soaring.

But the most recent writer on the subject, Dr. Ahlborn of Hamburg, defends the view that the flying fish can only soar.

He states that the fish, by means of its powerful tail, can swim with terrific speed, and dart from the water like an arrow.

Its momentum is often sufficient to carry it for the whole length of its flight.

If it needs more momentum, it can get it only by touching the water again.

While in the air it is supported by great fins which spread out fanwise on either side of the body. These fins act merely like the planes of an airship. They cannot be flapped like the wings of a bird, for the muscles controlling them are too small to do such work.

The fish can sustain its flight for only a fraction of a minute, but in this short time it can soar to a distance of several hundred feet.

The average American consumes four times as much meat as the world's average man.

WOMAN ANTI-RED LEADER KILLED

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
RIGA, July 5.—Marie Nikoforva, the woman anti-Bolshevik leader, who for months harassed the reds at the head of a regiment of counter-revolutionary troops, has at last been seized and executed, according to word received here.

Mlle. Nikoforva was the daughter of a czarist officer who was slain by the communists. She was an excellent horsewoman and carried the title of colonel.

The Bolsheviks were able to capture her only by sending four regiments against her. Three firing squads refused to kill her, firing their rifles in the air.

Then the red leaders commanded a machine gun to be turned on her and she was killed.

SOUTH COMMON NETS CITY $607

License fees from the amusement and refreshments stands established on the South common during the American Legion carnival during the city $607, according to figures made public by the license commission at its meeting last evening. This is considerably in excess of the proceeds, usually received from the Fourth of July concessions. The large number of concessions kept the members of the commission and their clerks busy Saturday afternoon and Monday when they established a temporary office on the common and saw to it that every enterprise was properly licensed.

The commission last evening granted the following minor permits: Express, Joseph C. Scribner, 233 Middlesex street; common victualler, Koprigitos & Co., 290 Middlesex street; and Mrs. Nora M. Bobenian, 653 Lawrence street; billiards and pool.

"SLAIN" MATE IN NEW YORK
PARIS, July 6.—Madame Bessarabo, held in connection with the death of two of her husbands, has told the authorities a new story. The body found in the trunk at Nancy was not her husband's. He is alive and in New York she declared. That's the third version of the case Madame Bessarabo has given the police.

"THEN WHO IN CREATION WAS IT?" ASKED CHICK IN SURPRISE.

Chick Chickadee saw a shadow fall across his doorway up in sugar-maple. "Ah, ha?" he said, softly. "There's the person who has been stealing my maple syrup sap!"

But Chick was so surprised that he nearly forgot to breathe when he found it was Nancy, who had wished herself up there with the help of her Magic Green Shoes.

"How do you do?" she said, bobbing a curtsy. "May I come in?"

"Certainly," answered Chick, remembering his manners, even if he didn't remember his breath. "Why, I—I think that I've seen you before."

"Yes," Nancy told him. "Nick and I were at your house with Tingaling, the fairyman landlord, to collect your rent on the thirty-second day of the month! Here's Nick now."

Tingaling, indeed! He was the very person who told me to make a hole in my wall to catch the maple syrup sap. And I did, but someone has stolen it. Nick state of things, I call it."

"That's what we are here about now," declared Nick. "Mr. Sprinkle-Down, the weather man, sent us to see if the weather was warm enough to make the sap come up in the maple trees."

"Yes," said Chick disgustedly. "It came up in the maple trees only to go down the throats of folks who have no right to it. You didn't happen to

R. R. REFERENDUM
VOTE ON SEPT. 1

CHICAGO, July 6.—The membership of 16 railroad labor organizations, including the Big Four brotherhoods will decide through a referendum vote by Sept. 1, whether to accept or reject the 12 per cent. wage reduction that went into effect on railroads throughout the country July 1. It was decided last night by the chief executives and 1500 general chairmen of the organizations.

The general chairmen decided that they could not assume responsibility for the wage reduction that was offered by the railroad labor board.

E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, said that "nothing can be expected of the railroad employees interested in the decision of the labor board except to resist to the fullest extent the reduction of rates of pay and the proposed abrogation of certain favorable working conditions."

LETTERS OF GRATITUDE

Eloquent language and illustrations in advertising may appeal to many, but after all it is the honest, sincere letters from women, overflowing with heartfelt gratitude for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that convince other suffering women that there is a medicine that will help them also. Many such letters are being published in this paper from day to day, and it is to any woman's advantage who suffers from female ailments in any form to give this old fashioned root and herb remedy a trial.—Adv.

Installation of Officers by M. T. J.—Address by President Flaherty

Arthur M. Flaherty was installed as president of the Mathew Temperance Institute at the regular meeting of the organization in its rooms in Central street last evening. President Flaherty and the other officers who were installed will serve until Jan. 1, 1922.

Following his installation President Flaherty spoke at length on the purposes and plans of the institute for the coming half-year and asked for the co-operation of all the members in making his term a success.

Other officers installed were as follows: Vice-president, Frank Boyle;

ARTHUR M. FLAHERTY,
President.

financial secretary, Thomas M. Carly; treasurer, James M. McGovern; recording secretary, Frank Carroll; marshal, P. Frank Reilly; spiritual director, Rev. Daniel J. Keenan, Ph.D.; board of trustees, William Sheehy, John Conlon and Francis Phunkett; board of examiners, John Brady, Edward Carroll and Walter M. Quinn; literary committee, John Tighe, Joseph Geary and Edward Mealy.

Several applications for membership were received and referred to the board of examiners. The quarterly report of the financial secretary and the treasurer showed that the institution was in a most prosperous condition.

A communication from the Catholic Total Abstinence union invited the institute to send a delegate to the national convention of the organization to be held in Boston on August 2, 3 and 4. Edward F. Slattery was appointed to represent the institute.

Following the installation of officers, refreshments were served and a general good time enjoyed.

BRITAIN DEFENDS
OIL RESTRICTIONS

LONDON, July 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A "white paper" on the oil situation was given out yesterday. It is in the form of a note which Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary sent to Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, under date of April 21, which enclosed for the ambassador's information, in reply to his inquiries, a memorandum compiled by the British petroleum department giving statistics on the oil resources of every part of the British empire and showing an extremely small oil production and the absence of any general policy for the exclusion of foreigners from the oil producing areas.

The memorandum says that in vast areas where there are no restrictions no foreign country has attempted to explore for oil, except in British North Borneo, while in Canada and Trinidad, where restrictions are enforced, foreign capital has been working for many years.

"It can therefore, hardly be contended the restrictions imposed any serious disability on foreign enterprise," the memorandum argues as regards the closed door policy. "No real parallel can fairly be drawn between the British empire, with its small and scattered production, and a country like the United States, producing two-thirds of the world's output within her home territory."

A STOMACH TONIC

There is a form of indigestion called "atonic" dyspepsia. Atonic means "lack of tone." It is probably the most common form of indigestion but not much is heard about it because people are inclined to group all forms of dyspepsia as "stomach trouble."

Lack of tone in the digestive organs means that the stomach is no longer able to do its work as nature intended. The nerves that control it are weak, the glands that supply the digestive fluids are not working properly. Gas on the stomach, sour risings in the throat and constipation result. The cause of the trouble is thin blood. Stomach nerves and glands are all dependent on the blood and when it gets thin and watery they are at once weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and the first response from the stomach is a better appetite, freedom from distress after eating and an increase in ambition and energy generally. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a stomach tonic and see how your general health improves.

A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Every druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 60c per box.—Adv.

BREAK IN G.O.P. RANKS

Cong. Frear Charges Colleague With Breaking Pledges on Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A break in the ranks of republican members of the house ways and means committee which drafted the tariff bill came yesterday with the making public by Representative Frear of Wisconsin of a minority statement charging his colleagues with disregard for party pledges and assailing them for proposing "fundamentally indefensible" provisions and rates of duty. The statement will be filed along with the majority report of the committee, which it is expected will be submitted to the house today.

Mr. Frear's attack, while predicated on the "atrocities" of the dye control provision, embraced many other features of the bill. The Wisconsin members declared the rates of duty to be excessive in scores of instances and added that they would lead to exactions by "trusts and monopolies," thus increasing the burden the people must carry.

Mr. Frear referred to the argument that protection for the dye manufacturers was necessary for national defense and asked why it was necessary to assume that the nation would be thrown into a great war and at the same time "to grant practically exclusive rights of dye manufacture to a recognized monopoly."

Protection, the keystone of republican doctrine, is thrown to the wind in the chemical dye schedule," Mr. Frear said.

The question which must be decided by republicans in congress, he added, was, "Can the bill, as drawn, be defended?" Its critics, he contended, would disclose how far it exceeds strictly protective lines in a revenue way and where it becomes prohibitive. Objection was voiced by Mr. Frear to provisions which would pass to the tariff commission "legislative functions" in the determination of what dye chemicals may or may not enter customs. The provisions, he declared, meant that the commission would be authorized to determine "the character of a necessity to modern industrial life; to determine quantity and quality of goods that may be imported and the price that shall be paid by the consumer."

"If this precedent is adopted," he continued, "then every tariff schedule may be made prohibitive in fact without the interposition of congress. A subordinate commission, not responsible or responsible to congress or to the people, may thus prevent all imports of commerce between nations and may also be arbiter of fortunes of those here and abroad."

No inkling came from the other republican committee men last night as to what propositions they would put before the second of the party conferences on the measure tonight. It was regarded elsewhere as virtually certain that amendments, excepting those by the committee, would be limited to a few items and that a special rule would be drawn to prevent any direct moves to upset the committee work.

ELIOT NORTON, LAWYER AND AUTHOR, INDICTED

NEW YORK, July 6.—Indictments charging Eliot Norton, lawyer and author: Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., of Philadelphia; Louis B. Jennings and Harry Brodski with selling unauthorized stock of the Standard Film Industries, Inc. were returned by the grand jury last Thursday. It became known yesterday when Norton was arrested and held in $5000 bail. He pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Norton, son of the late Charles Eliot Norton, professor of English at Harvard university, was named in the indictment as secretary and attorney of the company. Mr. Drexel was designated as vice president; Jennings, as president, and Brodski as general manager.

The indictments grew out of an investigation into the companies connected with the sale of the Standard Film Industries stock.

ducted by the New York state industrial commission following receipt, price said, of numerous complaints from people of small means who said they had been induced to invest in the corporation on promise of large returns but had received no dividends. According to District Attorney Swann more than $6000 worth of stock was sold to negro residents of the Harlem section.

The company, incorporated in Virginia, is alleged to have reported the sale of only 200 shares of stock at $3 each to the Virginia authorities, whereas the indictment charges stock of $350,000 par value was actually sold at $3 to $3.50 a share, bringing in approximately $300,000. Salesmen were paid 40 per cent. according to the district attorney, who said no dividends were paid. The specific charge in the indictment is violation of a section of the Penal Code relating to issuance of stock in excess of the amount declared. The maximum penalty provided by the law is seven years' imprisonment, $2000 fine, or both.

Senator Arthur Capper has leaned out two hundred thousand dollars, without security, to boys to purchase pure-blood pigs. The boys become interested in their stock raising and remain on the farm. The senator is applying the same idea to chicken clubs with girl members and has already loaned fifty thousand to Kansas girls for purchase and development of pure bred flocks.

MANY DEATHS DUE TO AUTO ACCIDENTS

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, July 6.—The deaths from automobile accidents for the month of June number 51. State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin says that of those killed last month 29 were children and 32 adults. For June of last year the toll was 41. The highest total for any month was last October when 51 were killed as the result of accidents.

The registrar announced today that any persons complained of for driving a car under the influence of liquor would lose his license whether he was "drunk" enough to have his case tried in court or not. The registrar reports that over the July 4th holiday weekend a large percentage of the 256,743 registered cars in the state were on the road. As a general thing, traffic conditions for the past few days have been well handled. The officials, however, are not going to relax their vigilance and will keep a strict watch on all Massachusetts the coming week.

NAVY ENLISTMENTS
Frank Donnelly, of Carter street, left Lowell for Boston yesterday to take the navy examination for enlistment as a machinist's mate, second class. The local recruiting officers state that others here who have special qualifications will be allowed to seek the rank of petty officer in the naval service. The pay of a machinist's mate second class, after all living expenses have been paid by the government, is $72 a month on shore and $72.20 afloat. In other words, at sea the petty officer receives practically $20 a week after he has received his food, lodging, medical attendance, and all other necessities. A plain seaman draws $59.40.

Costello was finally granted a special permit by the federal authorities, and as no criminal complaint of violation of the liquor law was ever made against him, the judge ordered the liquor returned. It had been under lock and key in the trunk room in police headquarters.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE
Reparation Payments by Germany and Indemnities Planned by Allies Discussed

LONDON, July 6.—Reparation payments by Germany, and plans formulated by the allies in connection with indemnities were discussed by the imperial conference today. Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, was prepared when he entered the conference, to give details of the situation regarding reparations.

A committee composed of Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies and one representative from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and India, began today a study of the problem of securing cheaper communication between distant parts of the empire. The transmission of news despatches between the Dominions and London will be taken up.

Naval affairs, particularly the fixing of the Dominions part in the sea defenses of the empire, have been deferred pending exchanges of views between the United States, Great Britain and Japan relative to a conference dealing with limitation of armaments.

$10,000 IN WHISKEY RETURNED TO OWNER

HAVERHILL, July 6.—Sergeant William Gavin and Patrolman John J. Wholley yesterday afternoon returned to James M. Costello of 18 Main street 10 barrels of whiskey, valued at $10,000, which were seized by the police Feb. 5, acting under the state law.

The return was made under an order by Judge Fosdick in the superior court at Lawrence 10 days ago. Costello last year had a federal wholesaler's permit, which expired Dec. 31. He had applied for a renewal, or for a special permit to cover the 10 barrels on hand. As the value of the liquor seized was more than $1000, the police took the matter up in the superior court on a question of forfeiture.

Costello was finally granted a special permit by the federal authorities, and as no criminal complaint of violation of the liquor law was ever made against him, the judge ordered the liquor returned. It had been under lock and key in the trunk room in police headquarters.

"Love Boat" to Carry Couple Around The World on Second Honeymoon Trip

By Newspaper Enterprise
CLEVELAND, July 6.—The motor cruiser Speedjacks is in drydock here being fitted for a 75,000-mile round-the-world cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Young Gowen will use the "love boat" for their second honeymoon trip, which they figure will last upward of a year.

Before the return, the Speedjacks will have poked its nose into all the principal harbors of the world, will have explored the South Sea Islands and traveled up the rivers into interior China.

There'll be a scientific party aboard, too. Geological and other surveys will be made. A movie operator will keep a record of the trip on celluloid.

Gowen is vice president of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, is a keen yachtsman and hails from Cleveland.

"Ever since I was a boy," says Gowen, who laid out something like $250,000 for his "liner," "I've wanted to see what the other side of the old world looked like. But I said, that when I went, I was going in my own boat. Now the day's at hand—and I feel like a kid."

"We'll take in everything romanced in history and fairy tale. Captain Kidd's old playgrounds and the home of the storied race of dying Marquises are both on our itinerary."

"Yes, and we'll have heaps of fun," adds Mrs. Gowen, who is a veteran yachtsman herself and can handle a wheel or a sail with the best of them. "We've dreamed about this trip for a long time, and now it's coming true. It'll be a real romantic honeymoon."

From windlass to wireless the Speedjacks was built after Gowen's own long thought-out plans.

Its length overall is 38 feet, with a beam of 17 feet and a draft of six

Every contrivance on board that could be electrically driven, is so equipped so that only a crew of six need be carried.

R. Detectives Busy Recovering Butter, Etc.

HUNTINGTON, July 6.—Railroad detectives were busy today recovering from the homes of residents of this town, dairy products scattered from 15 cars of a Boston & Albany east bound fast freight, which were derailed yesterday afternoon and plunged down a bank. It is said that much butter and other perishable goods were taken by motorists passing in the state highway before railroad officers arrived.

WILL TAKE REINS OF GOVERNMENT MONDAY

Henry J. Bowers, who was yesterday elected superintendent of streets by the municipal council, will take up his new duties next Monday morning, he said today. There are a number of matters in the city engineer's office where he has been employed for the past quarter of a century, which must be cleaned up before he assumes his new position.

The appointment of an assistant engineer to succeed Mr. Bowers lies in the hands of Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department, who must make his choice from a civil service list of eligibles. He has not yet taken any action on the matter.

OFFICER CONWAY IS ON THE JOB

Officer Owen Conway, who recently made one night's work of rounding up a naval deserter sought for a year, a man wanted for a similar period on non-support charges, and two youths afterwards found guilty of taking an automobile, has again displayed some remarkable sleuthing work and is receiving the congratulations of his companions. Last night he arrested John B. Conley, a soldier wanted at Camp Devens as a stranger. Conway spotted his man in the crush at the South common. Just prior to this arrest, he took into custody John H. Whalen, missing from the Hingham naval training station.

REINSTATES POSTAL UNION LEADERS

CHICAGO, July 6.—Postmaster General Hays has signed an order directing the reinstatement of 10 of the 11 postal union leaders who were dismissed from the Chicago postoffice a year ago by former Postmaster General Burleson because of their union activities.

Mr. Hays ordered a new investigation made when he took office, assigning an outside inspector to the task. On the inspector's report, the postmaster general found all, but Pierce Butler, president of the postal clerks union here, were entitled to reinstatement.

Mr. Hays signed the order at Washington last week and the 10 will be re-employed as soon as their service records are certified.

Warship Aground in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, July 6.—The battleship Utah was aground for half an hour in the harbor here today. Six tugs eventually pulled her clear of the flats into which she had nosed while returning to the navy yard. The battleship was not damaged.

The Utah had sailed yesterday for European ports. She spent the day in the bay adjusting compasses but gun shutters were not working properly and the battleship turned back to port.

Aboard the Utah were the members of the United States Rifle and Pistol team entered in the international tournament at Lyons, France, Aug. 6 to 15. As the Utah will be in port a week their training period at Coblenz will be curtailed, possibly abandoned.

OBSERVED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

A high mass of thanksgiving at St. Jean Baptiste church, followed by a family dinner and reception at the home of the couple, marked the observance of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Leblanc of 886 Moody street yesterday. In attendance at the festivities were numerous guests from out of town and all extended their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

The mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. Aurelien Mercil, O.M.I., who also extended the best wishes of the parish to the venerable couple. During the service a special musical program was given by the choir under the direction of Joseph Paradis, who also presided at the organ.

At the close of the mass all repaired to the home of the couple, where dinner was served to members of the family and immediate relatives. Later Mr. and Mrs. Leblanc were read an address of congratulations and best wishes of little Miss Anita Couombe, who, in behalf of the couple present, presented the couple a purse of gold. A varied entertainment program was given with Miss Emelda Labrecque presiding at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Leblanc, the latter formerly Miss Celina Pigeon, were born in Canada and were married 50 years ago yesterday at Danielsonville, Conn. They came to this city over 35 years ago and have lived here since. Mr. Leblanc is an assistant foreman at the Lawrence Mfg. Co., which position he has held for the past 30 years. The couple have had four children, all of whom are living. Mrs. George Zappa, Mrs. Ludger Couombe and Mrs. Henri St. Cyr, all of this city and Pierre Leblanc, Jr., of Newark, N. J. They also have several grandchildren. Attending the festivities from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Pigeon and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boisvenue, all of Woonsocket, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cote of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Leblanc, Jr., of Newark, N. J.

NOT AGAINST LABOR

We notice that in certain quarters there is an assiduous effort to make it appear that the movement to have certain street work done by contract, is directed against the city laborer. Others say with equal emphasis that it is a personal drive against Commissioner Murphy.

So far as we can discern, it is neither the one nor the other, but simply a straight, direct and above board method of securing better streets at a reasonable expense.

The present method having completely broken down, something different is necessary even as an experiment. The citizens of Lowell are to be asked to give the contract system a fair trial in street work. That is all that was asked in the first place when the chamber of commerce urged the city council to have one street paved by contract in order to determine whether the latter method had any advantage over that of the street department. The city council refused, and as a result the initiative provision of the charter was invoked with the result that the matter must be submitted to the people at a special election within the next month. The whole matter would have been settled if the council had agreed to have one street paved by contract. But having failed to comply, all the disagreeable consequences of an initiative campaign and a special election in the vacation season are precipitated.

Now the cry is raised that the movement is opposed to labor. That is absurdly untrue. It is altogether a business proposition to secure street improvements by strictly business methods. Extravagance at city hall, combined with the civil service exclusion, has operated very seriously against the large body of laborers who are not employed in the street department. It has raised the tax rate, and a high tax rate means high rents, which the laborers outside city hall and the operatives who work in the factories, or who do not work at all, have to pay. Is that fair, is it honest or is it right?

There are but a few hundred laborers, if so many, in the street department, but there are over 20,000 who have to help pay for the waste resulting from mismanagement of our street work.

If it is a question of labor, then the benefit of better streets at reduced costs will come as a relief to fifty laborers for every one who would be favored by retaining the present method. When any kind of street work costs about twice as much as it should under proper supervision and direction, then it is time to try a different method. But in the new method there is a provision that Lowell labor will be employed. That will give the laborers in and out of the department a chance to obtain work without civil service interference.

It is not helping labor to say that any movement for greater efficiency in the street department or any other department is a drive against labor. Labor never did and never should try to block the onward path of efficiency. The man or men who do so, are not the friends of labor, but merely politicians trying to ride on the shoulders of honest labor.

GEN. SMUTS' MISSION

It is to be hoped that Gen. Smuts will accomplish his aim in bringing about an agreement among the elements that have for centuries stood against any just and proper settlement of the Irish question. It is amazing that British statesmen have allowed this question to remain in the forefront of the political horoscope for over a century.

Since the act of Union was passed in 1800, there has been trouble in Ireland because the people insisted upon some form of self government. In the last century they might have been satisfied with a restricted measure of home rule, but that was denied them with the result that the question has remained a live issue and when peaceful methods failed, the people resorted to physical force and hence there were rebellions in 1803, 1848 and 1867. After the Fenian movement was stamped out, there was a lull for some years while the country was getting ready for the great Land League movement which ultimately banished the landlords from Ireland and cleared the way for home rule. After securing many substantial reforms dealing with the land question, education and agriculture, the Irish parliamentary party secured the enactment of a general home rule bill in 1914. Had that measure been put in force, there would probably have been no Easter rebellion in 1916 and none of the trouble that has since followed as a result of withdrawing the measure and offering in its place a partition act, dividing Ireland on sectional lines in a way that would operate to maintain dissension indefinitely and ultimately to stamp out the spirit of Irish nationality.

The country has suffered the loss of over half the population it possessed in 1847, having then over 8,000,000 people, whereas it has now little over 4,000,000. The result of the continued conflict and of scores of coercion acts forced millions of the people into exile with the result that the Irish in Ireland today would hardly form a tithe of those scattered among the other nations of the earth. It is astounding that England has allowed her business interests to be harassed with this Irish question for the last century although it might have been settled in three months in a manner that would be beneficial alike to both nations. As President de Valera has stated, it would be much better for England in case of war to have a friendly Ireland at her door instead of an Ireland chafing for an opportunity to achieve her freedom and possibly also to avenge the wrongs of centuries.

If South Africa, Canada, Australia and New Zealand have prospered as dominant colonies, it seems strange that British statesmen have not tried this method of settling the Irish question. We surmise that Gen. Smuts wishes to see dominion home rule put into operation in Ireland and if the unionists are willing to compromise, we have no doubt that the republican leaders will meet them half way in order to secure a united and undivided Ireland.

We do not believe that the Irish

An Important Step

The American Library association has taken an important step in the reconstruction of war-torn France. It has established libraries in those zones where books were destroyed by the invader. In discussions of the future of France, books are not ranked with coal and reparations. But it is through books that the children are being taught to build a new, better, stronger France.

Huzzah For Amelia

Miss Alice Paul of the Women's national party said in a lecture on feminism: "Nothing angers a woman more than an unjust accusation. Would you accuse the sleeping tiger in the economical housewife's breast? Then accuse her of extravagance. An economical housewife told her husband the other morning that she'd have to ask him for a dollar or more a week on account of the high cost of living. 'I'll try and give you a half-dollar,' he grumbled. 'That's the best I can do. You're pretty extravagant, Amelia. Be extravagant!'" And Amelia laughed bitterly. "Well, James, I don't see how you can call a woman extravagant who has saved her wedding dress for over 30 years on the chance that she may yet make a second marriage."

Fear and Worry

Fear and worry are two of the greatest curses of the human race. If they could be eliminated most, if not all, of the difficulties under which their victims labor, whether real or imaginary, would disappear. The fear of the future is the sum of all the troubles that would follow is beyond calculation. Dr. Barton in a recent article, says that "it is not hard work that kills men." He adds that he does not remember ever having known a man who worked himself to death, but has known many who worried themselves to death. The president of a great eastern university says that in 40 years but one of the tens of thousands of students has died from overwork. If there ever was a time that the world needed hard work and clear thinking, it is now. Neither is possible on the part of the individual who is the slave of fear and worry.

A Possibility

If every man and wife should pair (They'll disagree, most everywhere) Then all the votes that should count Would be those cast by folk still single.

This single sec. would do away, With lots of help on 'lection day— Excuse us! Let us get this right! We should have said "the plebs'le."

THE ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY

There is much interest in the discussion of the renewal of the alliance between England and Japan. This treaty, it appears, was negotiated in 1902 and resulted from the action of Russia, France and Germany in depriving Japan of the fruits of her victory over China in the war of 1894-5. It bound the contracting powers to maintain the state of peace then existing in the Far East. It provided that if either power became involved in war, the other should remain neutral unless some other power attacked its ally, in which case the allied powers should unite their forces against the opposing elements.

It was under this agreement that Great Britain remained neutral in the war between Japan and Russia in 1904-5. That year the treaty was extended so as to apply to India and the neutrality provision was eliminated. That the treaty bound both powers to act together in case either became involved in war. On July 13, 1911, the alliance was renewed for a term of ten years so that within a few weeks it will probably be renewed in a modified form. Some British statesmen are in favor of submitting the new draft of the treaty to the United States government for approval, but this is not likely to be done except for a quid pro quo. The more recent modification made upon the treaty provided that should either of the contracting parties conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power it is agreed that nothing in the treaty should be allowed to nullify the peaceful aims of the arbitration agreement with a third power. Following the import of this amendment to the treaty, it is highly probable that England will seek to secure a general arbitration treaty with the United States and thus place this nation outside the provisions of the offensive and defensive alliance between England and Japan.

The colonial premiers are much interested in this Anglo-Japanese treaty and at least two of them are anxious to meet the desires of the United States, even at the risk of offending Japan whose friendship in the east is sought by England as a safeguard in case of an outbreak in India.

Prof. J. Bushnell Hart advises schools to pay less attention to Latin and Greek and more to the industrial problems that will later engage the attention of the students. When college men thus begin to disparage the classics, we are forced to the conclusion that the colleges rather than the elementary schools need inspiring direction. Some of them are losing all respect for the higher ideals of education.

Certainly it seems as if the $20,000,000 which the Rumanian government has appropriated to pay the cost of the coronation of Queen Marie in September ought to be enough to get her crown on straight. Boston Globe.

And surely enough to cause the people to disperse with the luxury of quendoom in the future.

Nobody has any pride against the carnival fakes on account of excess profits. Many of them, it is understood, "went broke."

Henry J. Rogers, the new superintendent of streets, has a big job ahead. If he hopes to put the department upon an efficient basis and repair our dilapidated streets.

Welcome back to duty, Commissioner Murphy. We hope Commissioner Salmon will soon be able to join his colleagues of the council.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Any Housewife's Lament

I DON'T mind the cooking, I don't mind the cleaning
Of rooms that are covered with dust;
Toward mending and sewing I haven't much leaning,
But do them, as housekeepers must;
To do the week's wash isn't one of my wishes,
And yet I can hear it, I think;
But, oh, how I loathe and detest doing dishes—
The terrible dishes—
Unbearable dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

THE making of beds isn't highly exciting,
But still, I don't mind it a lot;
And scrubbing the floor isn't very inviting,
Yet, somehow, it troubles me not;
But I feel I'm poorest of all the poor fishes,
My temper it puts on the blink,
To bend to the duty of washing the dishes—
The wearisome dishes—
The drearier dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

I'VE never found housework exactly enthralling,
But mostly it isn't so bad;
It's only the dishes that seem so appalling,
And make me so constantly mad.
I hate every dish, and the dish rag that swishes!
I hate pots and pans as they clink!
I hate 'em, I hate 'em—those darn dirty dishes—
Those spitefullest dishes—
Those frightfullest dishes—
That glower at me from the sink!

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final presentations of "Madonnas and Men," the big dramatic photoplay, will be given at the Merrimack square theatre this afternoon and evening and tomorrow there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will bring to patrons of this popular amusement house two of the best photoplays of the season, Justine Johnston in "Sheltered Daughters," and "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," both leaders in their type of entertainment.

Perhaps the most beautiful girl who ever adorned the Folies, Justine Johnston has brought to the screen not only real fame and personality but unusual grace and charm. In "Sheltered Daughters," she gives evidence of exceptional ability.

The story deals with a girl, daughter of a famous detective, who has been so closely guarded from all knowledge of the world and its evils that she has never even been allowed to read the newspapers.

Her father, who knows too much about the seamy side of life, has determined to keep her unspotted from the world at all costs. He is very complacent over her bookishness, and fondly believes that because she is always at home, reading, she is safe.

Of course she gets her head filled with romantic fancies, and is an easy mark for the first man who meets her. Fate arranges that this man shall be a crook of international fame, and the girl who is easily duped into acting as his accomplice, innocently gets herself into a scandal which is a front-page story in all the newspapers which her father has never permitted her to read!

Then the father wakes up, acknowledges that too much sheltering nearly spoiled the girl, and his scruples about the thrilling aspects of his story and also the fact that for the first time in motion pictures the principles of modern art have been applied to a photoplay.

The story deals with a somnambulist who is completely under the control of Dr. Caligari and the latter utilizes him to commit many crimes and incidentally makes a living exhibiting the sleeper at fairs, etc.

A comedy and the International News will complete the bill.

THE STRAND

If you're in a laughing mood and you want your desires satisfied, don't forget that Charlie Chaplin is appearing in "The Punctured Romance" at The Strand for the last time today. It's a comedy creation without a peer. See it and laugh yourself into health. Hobart Bosworth in "His Own Law" is the other feature.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing the remainder of the week is Jack Pickford in "The Man Who Had Everything" and Shirley Mason in her newest picture creation, "Wing Toy." The usual comedy and Weekly will also be shown.

Take the proper amount of humor, pathos, thrills, do luxe sets and the best screen talent obtainable—mix to a perfect blending and you get "The Man Who Had Everything" will be the result. Jack Pickford is featured and his support includes Lionel Belmore, Shannon Day, the "baby vampire," engaged especially for this picture from the Midnight Frolics in New York, and Priscilla Bonner. A new dance feature is introduced by Miss Day. The place of resistance of the picture is Lenore's boudoir. The story is a corker. Don't miss it.

In Wing Toy Miss Mason has a role of a quiet little maiden supposedly Chinese, whose sweet innocence stands forth from a background of dreams, opium-ridden Chinatown. She grows to girlhood and brightens the lives of all with whom she comes in contact.

To "Clean Up" Delinquent Sales Taxes

WASHINGTON, July 6—With every city of importance in the United States included in the campaign plan, a force of 250 specially trained revenue officers today began a nation-wide "clean up" of delinquent sales taxes. The special force will be divided into flying squadrons which will supplement the activities of the 2000 regular deputy collectors.

The cities marked for the first raids, it was announced today, include Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Atlanta, New Orleans, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco. Special attention is to be given to verification of returns of the manufacturers' excise, the tax on soft drinks and the transportation, jewelry, admission and insurance levies.

GUARDS AND RUM RUNNERS CLASH

Gun Play, Fists, Clubs and Auto Chase Figured In Maine Case

Bullets Whistle Back and Forth—Official Car Ditched—Two Caught

HOULTON, Me., July 6.—Gunplay, a wild automobile chase and the ditching of an official car figured in a clash between three of Hight Sheriff Grant's deputies and a gang of six alleged rum-runners early today in Orient and Hodgdon's Mills.

On Skagoc bridge, the officers, Deputies Grant, son of the sheriff, Clifford and Whitney, aided by Aubrey Snow, seized a liquor laden car and arrested two men who refused to reveal their identity. As they were being handcuffed and placed in the officers' automobile, two more of the "rum cars" appeared out of the morning mist.

Apparently recognizing the officers, the four men in the two machines fled. A fusillade of shots from the deputies' revolvers was sent after them, and bullets whistled back from the cars.

Leaving Deputy Whitney to guard the seized car and dropping Snow at Amity to telephone for assistance, Deputies Grant and Clifford started on a thrilling chase to Hodgdon's Mills. There the four were overhauled, but in attempting to arrest them, Deputy Grant was injured on the chest by a blow from a club. One of the four also was believed to have been injured by a blow by one of the officers. Outnumbered two to one and handicapped by the lack of cartridges, the officers were unable to take them into custody and they again dashed away.

Rushing through the mist the officers' automobile ran into an open culvert, the covering of which the pursued men were alleged to have torn off. The officers and their two handcuffed prisoners were thrown out and barely escaped with their lives.

The two cars, believed to have contained thousands of dollars worth of liquor, then got safely away.

The prisoners were brought to the county jail. The number plate of their car is registered in the name of a Bangor man.

INDICTED EIGHTY TIMES, SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL

Self-Styled "Reformed Confidence Man" Now Involved With Norton and Others

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Indictment of Harry Brodski in New York with Anthony Drexel, Jr., Elliot Norton and Louis R. Jennings, in connection with the affairs of the Standard Film Industries, Inc., makes eighty times Brodski, politician, former gambler and self-styled "reformed confidence man" has been indicted according to records of San Francisco courts.

Brodski now is under prison sentence of United States courts here following his conviction as the "master mind" of an alleged huge whiskey selling conspiracy which was declared to have involved hundreds of dollars.

In a book written by Brodski he styled himself a "reformed confidence man."

SUES POLICE CHIEF WHO FIRED AT HIS AUTO

PITTSFIELD, July 6.—Suits asking total damages of $50,000 were filed in the superior court yesterday by Attorneys Warner & Barker of Pittsfield in behalf of Frank B. Ross of Waterford, Conn., superintendent of a cemetery in that town, against Frank T. Coughlin, chief of police of Lee and George Dana Knox, a member of the board of selectmen. The suits grew out of a sensational chase of autos, after midnight on June 17, between East Lee and Chester, on Jacobus ladder way. It ended in the arrest of Ross and his acquittal in the Lee district court.

Mr. Ross sues Chief Coughlin for $25,000, alleging "that while he was travelling with his wife and three children on the road between Lee and Chester the defendant stepped from the side of the road at a secluded spot, and without cause or reason attempted to stop the plaintiff by holding up his hands."

"The plaintiff, believing the defendant to be a highwayman, proceeded at accelerated speed and attempted to avoid being molested by the defendant and succeeded in passing him. Thereupon the defendant pursued the plaintiff in an automobile at a high rate of speed and with a pistol, gun or firearm, charged and loaded with sunpistols and loaded bullets, shot, hit and damaged the plaintiff's car and caused him to be in great bodily fear and to suffer great anguish of mind, etc."

The suit against Knox charges him with "procuring and conspiring, aiding and abetting the defendant, Coughlin, by carrying the chief of his car while the chief chased Ross and fired at him."

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION

NEW YORK, July 6.—Most of the 15,000 delegates to the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention had arrived today and were ready for the opening session tonight. The largest religious gathering assembled in New York for 20 years will remain until next Monday night when the convention will come to an end.

Several thousand of the delegates arrived yesterday and last night. More than 4000 from the west left their special trains at Albany and completed the trip by special boats down the Hudson. There were 376 delegates on the first special train from Canada. Several hundred from a score of foreign countries arrived last week.

The session tonight will be presided over by Dr. Francis E. Clark of Portland, Me., founder and president of the Christian Endeavor society, which has grown in 40 years to a worldwide organization of 4,000,000 members.

Mayor Hyatt will deliver the address of welcome for the city. Dr. Elms faldeman for the city's churches and Frederick A. Wallis for the convention committee. An address on "Christian Endeavor and Business" by Roger Babson will feature the opening session.

COMMISSION WANTS MONEY BACK

Who is going to restore the $169.19 which the high school building commission says was taken from its appropriation to pay the interest and costs of the case of the "Richard D. Kimball Co. vs. the city of Lowell in which the city was ordered to pay $6000?"

The commission insists that it did not authorize anybody to expend the money and without authorization nobody has any right to charge money to the high school building appropriation. The commission contends, backed up by a written opinion from City Solicitor William D. Regan.

J. Joseph Hennessy, city auditor, is the man who issued the warrant to have the money paid but when he was questioned on the matter today he said smilingly:

"There has been no communication addressed to me on the matter. When there is one, I believe that I shall be able to give a satisfactory explanation. Until then—when the matter comes to me officially—I can say nothing."

The municipal council was plainly baffled at its meeting yesterday when the question of restoring the funds to the high school commission came before it. Together with a letter from City Solicitor Regan, saying that inasmuch as the high school commission had not authorized the payment of the funds—that is, the $169.19—no officer had any right to issue a warrant for such payment and charge it to the commission's appropriation.

The municipal council has laid the matter on the table until it can see its way out of the fog now surrounding the question. In the meantime, the high school commission is insistent that the money be restored to its appropriation.

BOYS ARRESTED

Charged with unlawfully riding on a train of the Boston & Maine railroad, Irving Joseph Cheney, and Harry J. Monahan, were locked up this afternoon at police headquarters. Special Officers Henry O'Donnell and Chester Harrigan took the two youths, who are 15 and 17 years of age respectively, into custody.

COOK WELLS CLOSED

The copious downpour of last week has revived the city's water supply and has eliminated the necessity of keeping the Cook wells in operation. These wells were opened a week ago Sunday as the result of the drought, but following last week's heavy rainfall, Capt. Gardner of the water department gave the order to have them shut down again.

Senate Votes Against Adjournment and Takes Up Soldier Legislation

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The agricultural bloc of the senate yesterday caused the defeat of a proposal for adjournment of the senate next Saturday for four weeks while the house is considering the tariff bill.

By a vote of 21 to 24 an adjournment resolution offered by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, was voted down. It was supported by a majority of republicans and five democrats but was beaten by 16 republicans and 11 democrats. Nearly all of the opponents are aligned with the agricultural bloc.

Demands for farmer relief legislation featured the discussion, which was waged for three hours under swirling electric fans assisted by individual palm leaf fans in one of the hottest days of the summer. Senator Lodge said he had been requested by many senators to propose the adjournment for the only period, he explained, when it would be possible for senators to be away this summer.

After defeating the adjournment resolution, the senate agreed to proceed today with the soldiers' bonus legislation. Four senators, Underwood, Myers, Montana, and Glass, Virginia, Democrats, and Warren, republican, Wyoming, voted against giving the bonus measure privileged status.

In behalf of agriculturists, Senator Norris urged early action on his bill to create a 100 million dollar government corporation with power to issue one billion dollars of tax exempt bonds to aid exportation of farm products.

Senator Underwood declared the Norris bill would not be delayed by adjournment. Senator Norris conceded that it would take several months for organization of the proposed finance corporation. Senator Underwood declared it would not help in financing this year's crops.

Reorganization of the nation's finances from a war to a peace basis was asserted by Senator Underwood to be the prime function of congress in the extra session. He urged that tax revision be given priority and declared tariff revision to be "only a minor item."

"The great thing, the effective thing," he said, "is to put the country's finances back on a safe and sound basis and give business men and the people confidence. This can be until there is reorganization of the taxation system which destroys business."

MURPHY VISITS SALMON

"Sick Men" of the Municipal Council Have Chat at the Hospital

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy and Commissioner John F. Salmon, the two "sick men" of the municipal council, met yesterday afternoon for the first time in a couple of months. Commissioner Murphy, who made his first appearance at city hall yesterday in a long period, visited Mr. Salmon at St. John's hospital in the afternoon and the two members of the city government chatted for a long time about various matters. Commissioner Murphy was at city hall again today and Commissioner Salmon hopes to be there in the course of a few more weeks.

PASSED BILL RAISED FROM $2 TO $20

Police warnings have been ignored in Lowell, relative to the passing of raised bills. In consequence, another instance of this primitive game being worked successfully was reported last night at headquarters, the victim being the ticket-seller at one of the carnival shows on the South common. An unknown man proffered what on superficial observation seemed a $20 bill, in payment for a ticket to the show, and received over $19 in change. When the proceeds were being counted up at the end of the evening, it was seen that a $2 bill had been transformed by the use of eraser and crayon to a twenty. In the black and green engraving zeros had been made by erasing the engraving to the right of the "2s."

With green crayon and black pencil the rough edges had been camouflaged. A $1 bill was recently passed as a ten through similar crude work, a local merchant being the goat. Some time ago, a real counterfeit twenty was found in circulation, but these last instances have been effected by bills which would not stand more than the most cursory examination. Once more the police have issued warning against the manufacturers of the notes. These bills are all turned over to the federal authorities at Washington.

VOTE TO BORROW $25,000 FOR SEWERS

The municipal council passed an order this morning to borrow $25,000 for sewer construction, the same having been duly advertised seven days ago.

This was the only business transacted at a two-minute session called for 12:30 p.m. by the city council.

Commissioners Donnelly, Marchand and Murphy were present. The council adjourned until 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

REMARKABLE
NEW GUN
New Weapon May Be Developed to Hurl 5 Ton Projec-
tile 200 to 300 Miles
Velocity Ranges From One to Five Miles a Second—May
Be Stopped in Sheet of Steel

NEW YORK, July 6.—Scientists and inventors today discussed the remarkable qualities of a new gun which Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson, former chief engineer for Thomas A. Edison, claims may be developed to hurl a projectile of five tons from 200 to 300 miles. Its velocity, he declared, ranges from one to five miles a second. Its projectile may be stopped in a sheet of steel with the precision of a trolley car.

The gun is the invention of John Temple, an Englishman, who developed the idea in this country.

A demonstration was held in Dr. Hutchinson's office on the 51st floor of the Woolworth building. The testing grounds consisted of a box of sand on the floor, over which was placed a sheet of steel three-quarters of an inch thick. Pointing the gun downward, Dr. Hutchinson discharged the weapon. In the sheet of steel there was lodged a projectile three inches long and one-half inch in diameter. The ends stuck out on either side of the steel.

Dr. Hutchinson explained that the tail end of the projectile was threaded and served the purpose of a bolt. This feature, he declared, could be used in bolting a plate over a hole in the hull of a leaking ship at sea.

Dr. Hutchinson said a demonstration was held recently in the New York navy yard of the practicability of deep sea riveting with the gun. A diver went 35 feet below the surface and fired a shot. He refused to believe the gun had been discharged, as he said, that he had no previous experience with it. He was shown the plate of the ship he had fired into, however, and later a pressure of eight tons was required to force the projectile from its place.

Opening of Playgrounds

formally opened this season's period of supervised play. At each of the playgrounds the exercises consisted in the salute to the flag and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. After these were over the supervisors took a list of the children present and the regular playground work was started.

At the South common the playground work will not begin until next Monday because the ground is littered with papers and other refuse left from the midway.

The North Common
Approximately 400 children were on the North common this morning when the supervisors arrived. The forty swings which have been placed on the common were soon filled with happy laughing youngsters while others hastened to start games of baseball, volleyball, "Farmer in the Dell," "Cat and Rat," dodge ball, teacher ball and dozens of other games introduced by the supervisors. It was announced that later in the season a volleyball league will be started and those in charge hope that a lot of friendly rivalry will spring up among the various teams on the grounds. It is expected that a class in domestic science will also be inaugurated at this playground soon.

Miss Mae Sullivan has charge of the sewing class at this particular playground and she expects to have one of the most successful seasons in her experience. Arthur Lynch, one of the city's best known athletes, has been placed in charge of the boys' section of the playground. At an early hour this forenoon Mr. Lynch had already organized two baseball teams among the youngsters and a corking baseball game was soon in progress. Mr. Lynch says that he will spare no pains to make the North common give a good account of itself in the playgrounds league this year. The other supervisors are Miss Natalie McQuinn, Miss Charlotte Green, Miss Ruby Blain and Miss Rose Brown.

Greenhatch School
At the Greenhatch playgrounds, where classes in manual training and domestic science were held as an experiment in playground work last summer, preparations are going forward to put these branches of the work on a permanent footing. The class in domestic science presented a very interesting appearance this morning. About 40 girls of various ages were ranged about two long, narrow benches on each of which there was a gas cooker and a sink. The implements of cookery used in a model kitchen. The girls all listened eagerly as Miss Christine Kane, teacher of domestic science, explained to them the approved manner of making milk toast. This lesson was a very elementary one, purposely planned so that each girl could easily grasp the fundamental principles of toasting the bread and making the milk dressing.

Miss Kane plans to devote the first part of the summer season to the more elemental branches of cookery such as the making of soups, doughs, batters, etc. The work will be made as scientific as possible with special attention given to the most sanitary methods of preparing food. "It is surprising how many of our young people have never heard of the simplest sanitary precautions in cooking, such as the washing of eggs or the thorough cleansing of milk bottles before they are opened," said Miss Kane. These are the fundamentals which we will try to instill first into the children's mind and after that we can proceed to the more advanced forms of cooking."

Mr. Ralph Luce has charge of the manual training class at the Greenhatch playground, which consists of about thirty boys. Mr. Luce will strive to make his work interesting to his pupils and with this object in view has already started them on the construction of model windmills and airplanes. The other supervisors at this playground are Miss Helen Munn, Miss Alice Gallagher, Miss Muriel Leach and Mr. Edwin Markham.

In Chambers Street
The Chambers street playground also started this morning with over 150 children in attendance. The usual games and elemental sciences are to be conducted at this playground this season. The supervisors are Miss Mildred Colly, Miss Lucy Desmond, and Mr. Arthur Sullivan.

Alken Street Grounds
There was only one drawback at the formal opening of the Alken street playgrounds this morning. The employees of the park department had not been able to get around to install the swings and other paraphernalia, but nevertheless the little ones were entertained in a most enjoyable manner by the supervisor and their assistants and when they left the grounds at noon for luncheon they all promised to return in the afternoon.

No less than 150 boys and girls were on hand at 3 o'clock, when the attendants made their appearance and they greeted the latter with cheers. The boys were entertained at basketball, while the little girls spent the forenoon playing, singing and with folk games. The little kiddos were taken to a shady spot and were told stories that proved both pleasing and instructive. Miss Lucille Washburn is the supervisor in charge of the grounds and she is being assisted by Miss Mary Kelly and Miss Mary Dowd. Miss Washburn stated at noon that she was well satisfied with the attendance, and that the children who visited the grounds behaved nicely and showed a good deal of interest in the program laid out for them.

FUNERAL NOTICES

COYLE—Died in this city, July 5, at her home, 47 Summer street, Mrs. Maria Coyle. The funeral will take place Thursday morning from the place of Undertaker William Mack, 75 Gorham street at 8 o'clock. At St. Peter's church a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Interment will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. In charge of Undertaker William A. Mack. Motor cortege.

JOHN M. FARRELL REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY Auctioneer

REAL ESTATE AUCTION SALE

Saturday, July 9, 1921, at 2.30 P. M., at No. 15 West Fourth Street, Lowell, Mass.

I shall sell at public auction, to the person who will bid the highest and comply with the terms of sale, a very attractive piece of investment property, consisting of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house, barn, carriage sheds and about 15,000 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 155 feet on West Fourth street. This property is deeded in two pieces, but will be sold in one lot.

The first piece consists of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house and 4505 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 75 feet on West Fourth street.

The first floor has 7 rooms, pantry, bathroom, front and back halls, ice chest built in.

Second floor has 10 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

Third floor has 7 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

There are closets in almost every room in each tenement, and fireplaces in some of the front rooms.

The house has large bay windows on front and side, piazzas, electric lights throughout, hot and cold water, steam heat, front and back stairs, cemented cellar with bulkhead, sets high on the lot, has granite steps, and granite-capped wall in front. The building has all modern improvements, has been remodeled, the rooms newly papered, and has been painted inside and out. It is in good condition to rent. This property can be used as a rooming house, a tenement house, or divided into kitchenette apartments.

The second piece consists of a lot of land containing about 10,500 square feet, with a frontage of about 50 feet on West Fourth street, the next lot to the above, on which there is a large barn and carriage sheds. The buildings on this lot are out of repair but could be remodeled, or the lumber in them would go a long way in erecting a tenement house, which could be easily rented, as this is a desirable location near Bridge street, but 5 minutes' walk from Merrimack square, and near many large mills and workshops. This is a fine location for a garage.

A better opportunity for investment is seldom offered.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as the property is sold. Other terms at sale.

JOHN M. FARRELL, Auctioneer in charge.

REPORT SERIOUS
FIGHTING ON

Paris Hears of Clash About 70 Miles North of Brussa, Asia Minor

Paris, July 6.—Serious fighting has occurred in the neighborhood of Boghadich, about 70 miles southwest of Brussa, Asia Minor, says an Angora despatch quoting an official statement issued by the Turkish nationalist military headquarters.

Hostile Action Threatened

LONDON, July 6.—Great Britain, France and Italy may be compelled to adopt extensive and concerted measures against the Turkish nationalists, it was declared by a number of London newspapers this morning. Reports that the nationalists have actually penetrated the neutral zone east of Constantinople and along the Sea of Marmora, have not been confirmed, but there is reason to fear that they are concentrating forces to attack Constantinople. The allied high command, conferring with General Harrington, commander of allied forces there, regarding steps to be taken in the event of a probable advance by the nationalists.

General Harrington will have no alternative but to resist a Turkish advance to the utmost for the purpose of securing respect for the neutral zone. Should hostile action be necessary, British naval forces may be employed in opposing the Turks, the London Times stated today.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF
FOREIGN BORN FARMERS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The number of foreign born farmers in the United States has decreased from 87,592 or 13.2 per cent. in the last ten years, the census bureau announced today. The decrease, which was 11,148 among German-born farmers alone, was due, it was said, to the large number of foreign-born who returned to their native countries during the war.

Native white farmers, who numbered 4,917,305 in 1920, constituted 55 per cent of the nation's tillers. The remainder were divided as follows: Foreign-born white 551,054; negroes, 526,257; Indians, 16,213; Japanese, 6593; Chinese, 535.

States showing the largest percentage of foreign born white farmers in 1920, were: North Dakota, 46.7; Minnesota, 37.7; Connecticut, 33.7; Washington, 29.5; California, 29.1; and Wisconsin, 25.5.

Japanese farmers settled almost exclusively in the far western states; the census showed, California led with 1532; Washington had 699; Colorado, 321; and Oregon, 224.

A Brooklyn judge refused to admit as evidence in a burglar's case a bag containing dynamite, fuse and blasting caps which were brought into court. When the prosecutor directed an expert to fit the caps to the fuse the judge suggested that the test be made before the grand jury.

FUNERALS

DE ABREU—The funeral of Ricardo de Abreu took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, John and Matilda Gonsalves de Abreu, 19 Bradford street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church, prayers being read by Rev. J. J. McCarthy. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Ray Knapp and Miss Helen Lyons were married July 5 by Rev. A. G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The best man was Mr. James Sutcliffe, while the maid of honor was Mrs. Jessie Sutcliffe, a sister of the bride. Upon their return from a wedding trip the couple will make their home at 131 High street.

Toupin—Desmarais

Mr. Adolphe Toupin, proprietor of the Alken street drug store and son of ex-Alderman and Mrs. H. A. Toupin of Hildreth street, and Miss Irene Blanche Desmarais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Desmarais of Austin street, were married this afternoon, the ceremony being performed at St. Joseph's rectory by the pastor, Very Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O.M.I. The bride wore white satin with veil caught up with orange blossoms and she carried bridal roses. She was given away by her father, while the groom's witness was also his father. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and later the happy couple left on a wedding trip to Canada. Upon their return in two weeks they will make their home at 70 Austin street.

SUN BREVITIES

Among the passengers arriving at New York on the White Star liner Cedric, from Liverpool, July 2, was Mr. Howard L. Whitely, of 80 Livingstone avenue, Lowell.

The following members of the fire department left yesterday on their annual week's vacation: G. A. Crawford, H. F. Finerty, E. J. Geary, A. R. Kenefick, J. H. Lannon, J. Moran, Jr., E. J. O'Donnell, F. O. J. Townsend and J. H. Tracey.

Charles E. Whelan today assumed his duties as superintendent of the Lowell district of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., succeeding Ward B. Leavitt, who has been transferred to Melrose. For the past few months Mr. Whelan has been working in the Boston office of the company and is a street railway man of wide experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gagnon, who were recently married in this city, were tendered a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gagnon, 115 Gershom avenue, upon their return from their wedding trip July 3. There were numerous guests present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. Musical numbers were given and refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Gagnon will make their home at 531 Merrimack street.

FOREST FIRES ARE SPREADING

QUEBEC, July 6.—Forest fires were reported today from many sections of the province, following news last night that flames were sweeping through the dry timber belt of northern Ontario.

Two brothers were burned away at Brooksville, Que., and other fires were destroying woodlands in the districts of Abitibi, Beauve, St. Maurice, Rivier, Saguenay, and on the northern shore at Skeitor Bay and Totomostok.

SELECTING JURY TO TRY
BASEBALL PLAYERS
FOR NORTH JULY 16

CHICAGO, July 6.—The task of selecting a jury to try the 18 White Sox players and alleged gamblers indicted in connection with the 1919 baseball scandal was continued today, although there was little prospect of securing a jury immediately.

Three prospective jurors were tentatively accepted yesterday by the state which is subjecting all potential jurors to a lengthy questioning regarding their knowledge of any connection with baseball.

Jurors are being asked by the state whether they have ever played baseball, amateur, semi-professional or professional, and whether they are or have been baseball fans.

BOSTON, July 6.—Donald B. MacMillan will make his start for the Arctic regions on July 16 from Wiscasset, Me., he announced today. Governor Baxter of Maine and other state officials will be among the party to bid the little schooner Bowdoin Godspeed on her journey to explore Haffa land. The Bowdoin is now at Portland, taking on supplies.

The addition of Ralph Robinson of Haverhill as the seventh member of the exploring company, was also announced by the head of the expedition. Robinson was formerly a student at Worcester academy under MacMillan and was later an assistant of MacMillan in summer school work in Maine. More recently he has been in charge of physical instruction in the Haverhill schools. He will act as general assistant to the explorer.

THIRD TROLLEY STRIKE IN
4 YEARS AT DAYTON

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Dayton today was held in the grip of its third street car strike in four years. Employees of all six traction companies, with the exception of the city division of the Cincinnati & Dayton Interurban line, voted unanimously at 3 o'clock this morning to strike, effective at once.

Employees claim that the companies have violated their agreement by announcing a new maximum wage of 45 cents an hour without arbitration. They claim an attempt is being made to break the power of the union and start an open shop policy.
